WEATHER INDICATIONS.

U. S. Department of Agriculture,
Weather Bureau,
Toledo, O., Aug. 30, 1892.

The storm central over Iowa and Nebraska has moved northeastward to the "Soo," and increased in energy and magnitude, the barometer reading as low as 29.42 inches. The storm is moving eastward and is causing rains and high winds and gales. A second storm area is central north of Montana. The area of high barometric pressure central over Wyoming has shifted to the eastward and the pressure is high from Texas to northern Minnesota. The area of high pressure over the lakes has passed off the New England coast.

The temperature has fallen from 10 to 20 degrees over the country between the Rocky mountains and the Mississippi river, and from St. Louis to western Lake Superior. West of the Rocky mountains and over the lake region the temperature has risen slightly, and in all other sections it has remained nearly stationary.

Rains have fallen during the past 24 hours over South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Kansas, Nebraska, Arkansas, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

Rains and high winds are indicated for the entire lake region to-day.

Forecast for Toledo and vicinity—On Tuesday, showers, slight change in temperature; brisk southwest winds, veering to west northwest. On Wednesday, fair, decidedly cooler.

The Expert Chemist Gives His Testimony.

There Was no Blood on the Hatchet

Or Any on Either of the Two Axes Submitted.

The Hair on the Supposed Death-Dealing Instruments Was Not Human Hair—The Testimony in Detail.

Fall River, Mass., Aug. 30.—Court came in at 10:30 precisely and the first witness called was Prof. Edward S. Wood, the man for whom everybody has been looking for days.

He said he had received a package containing two stomachs on the 5th of August and two jars containing milk used on the 4th and 5th of August. All were properly labelled. The stomachs were labelled "Mr. and Mrs. Borden."

The stomachs appeared to be perfectly natural. Mrs. Borden's stomach contained about 11 ounces of solid food; the food was partially digested and showed wheat, starch and meat.

The contents contained chiefly meat and there were vegetable pulp cells which might be bread or apples. The digestion seemed to be advanced in the neighborhood of 2 1-2 hours, more or less. The stomach was tested for prussic acid but with a negative result.

The stomach of Mr. Borden contained only six ounces, chiefly water. In Mr. Borden's stomach there was only a small portion of starch; the digestion in his case, the contents being nearly all water, was much further advanced than in the case of Mrs. Borden. There were a few threads of vegetable tissue in his stomach which might have been apple.

"Could they have been pears?"

"Yes."

Witness had not yet analyzed the milk and could not report on that. He said:

"On the 10th of August I received from Dr. Dolan a hatchet, two axes, a blue dress skirt, dress waist, white starched skirt, lounge cover and three small envelopes in which were hair taken from Mr. and Mrs. Borden and hair taken from the hatchet. On August 16 witness received a pair of black stockings. The hatchet contained a number of suspicious looking spots, but careful examination showed no trace of blood. Every spot which looked like blood was examined, but no traces of blood were seen.

"A big smirch on the blue skirt looked like blood, but was found not to be blood. The white skirt had a spot which looked like blood and was found to be one and it was directly in front about six inches from the bottom.

"The carpet was blood stained (this was the sitting room carpet) and there was blood of course on that. There was no blood on the lounge cover. The envelope marked "hair from A. J. Borden" was simply white hair; Mrs. Borden's was dark. The hair on the hatchet was not human hair (sensation), more like that taken from an animal.

"The spot on the right shoe was not blood and there was no blood on either shoes or stockings. There was nothing on the two axes. Near the edge of the hatchet were spots which seemed to be blood but were found not to be. There was a spatter on the blade but it was not blood, and there were spots on the side of the head of the hatchet which looked to me like blood and I thought they were, but they were not. (Hatchet produced). Lizzie examined it with as much interest as did her counsel.

One paper was produced by witness on which was written, "hair placed here at (time mentioned)" but no air was there.

The public is cautioned against fraudulent imitations and counterfeits of Dr. Pierce's medicines, which are sold at less than regular prices by dealers not authorized to sell the genuine medicines.

To prevent deception and fraud, these genuine medicines are sold only through druggists, authorized as agents, and always at these long-established prices:

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery (the remedy for all diseases arising from a torpid liver or impure blood), $1.00 per bottle. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription (the remedy for woman's chronic weaknesses and derangements), $1.00 per bottle. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets (the original and best Liver Pills), 25 cents per vial. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, 50 cents per bottle.

The genuine medicines can be sold only at these prices. But the important point is this: the genuine medicines cost you nothing, unless they help you. They're guaranteed in every case to benefit or cure, or the money is returned.

You pay only for the good you get.

TO THE VETERANS.

A Circular of Interest to the Ohio Soldiers.

Washington, Aug. 30.—The following circular, which expresses itself, will be of interest to soldiers of the late war:

Comrade: At a meeting of the resident members of this "Old Division," it was resolved to extend a cordial invitation to all members to participate in a grand reunion on one of the days of the encampment week. The exercise will take place in the "White lot" in the rear of the President's Mansion, now designated "Gand Army Place," and will consist of speaking, music, and what to us is more interesting, reminiscences of the Valley Campaign. An excursion will take place to Winchester and Port Republic, and will give ample time to visit those historic battlefields, and from there to Harrisburg, where a committee of "Stonewall Jackson's Command," who contested our rights in 1862, will meet us and greet us with the hand of fellowship.

Comrade, you are a member of this "Old Fighting Division," the only troops accredited in history with having defeated "Stonewall Jackson," and as such we bid you welcome. It is expected that General Nathan Kimball, General S. S. Carroll (Brick Top), and others of our old brigade commanders will be with us.

N. B.—Look for that tent marked Headquarters "Shield's Old Division," where you will register your name, company, and regiment, secure your badge, program of exercises, and such other information as may be desired. Fraternally,

W. S. ODELL, President.
C. H. DICKSON, Secretary.

The "Old Fighting Division" was composed as follows:

First Brigade—Brigadier general, Nathan Kimball; Fourteenth Indiana, Col. Harrow; Fourth Ohio, Col. J. S. Mason; Eighth Ohio, Col. Frank Sawyer; Seventh West Virginia, Col. Lockwood.

Second Brigade—Brigadier general, O. L. Ferry; Thirteenth Indiana, Col. Foster; Sixty-second Ohio, Col. Pond; Sixty-seventh Ohio, Col. Voriss; Thrity-ninth Illinois, Col. Osborne.

Third Brigade—Brigadier general, E. B. Tyler; Fifth Ohio, Col. Dunning; Seventh Ohio, Col. Creighton; Twenty-ninth Ohio, Col. Buckley; Sixty-sixth Ohio, Col. Candy.

Fourth Brigade—Brigadier general, S. S. Carroll; Seventh Indiana, Col. Gavin; Eighty-fourth Pennsylvania, Col. McDowell; One Hundred and [illegible] nia, Col. Lewis; First West Virginia, Col. Thoburn.

Artillery—Col. P. Daum, chief of artillery; Battery E, Fourth United States, Capt. Clarke; Battery H, First Ohio, Capt. Robinson; Battery L, First Ohio, Capt. Huntington; Battery A, First West Virginia, Capt. Jenks; Battery B, First West Virginia, Capt. Keepers.

Cavalry—Col. Anisansell; five companies of the First West Virginia; two companies of the First Ohio; Ringold cavalry, Pennsylvania, Capt. Keyes.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

They Are Holding a Convention at Hartford.

The Regulation Ticket Will be Placed in the Field and a Strong Fight Made.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 30.—The state prohibition convention being held here today is the largest gathering of the party that has ever taken place in Connecticut.

There are over 600 delegates, each town being entitled to two representatives in the gathering, and one additional for every 10,000 votes or fraction thereof polled for Gen. Fiske in the presidential election of 1888.

The prohibitionists have a standing ticket in this state, and the only work of the convention will consist in filling the vacancy caused by the death of Phineas M. Augur of Middlefield, who has represented the party as its gubernatorial nominee in several campaigns.

Rev. S. B. Forbes of this city, who was at the head of the prohibition ticket in 1886, will probably be chosen to succeed Mr. Augur. Mr. Forbes is pastor of the Wethersfield avenue Congregational church, and was associated with President Garfield, of Williams college, of which he is a graduate.

As soon as the convention completes its work the prohibitionists of this city will hold a ratification meeting, and efforts are being made by Chairman Lincoln of the state committee, to arrange a joint debate with some prominent republican.

The campaign will be opened next week by ex-Gov. John P. St. John of Kansas, and will be closed by Volney P. Cushing of Maine, who is assigned for the last week in October.

IRON STATISTICS.

Bulletin Issued by the Census Department.

Washington, Aug. 30.—A bulletin has been issued at the census bureau which will interest those who are engaged in the coal and iron business. It is devoted especially to the production of coke in the flat top region of Virginia and West Virginia, known as the Pochahontas district, a territory in which the industry has recently been developed with an unusual degree of success, due to the fact that the coal peculiar to this district possesses high coking qualities.

The immense coal field owned and controlled by the Flat Top association, comprises a total of about 175,000 acres actual coal land, not including the barren lands, of which 17,418 acres were under lease to seventeen parties in 1890.

A report made at the close of 1890 showed that up to that period 8,237,734 long tons of coal had been mined, and that only 899.7 acres of coal lands had been mined out of the territory controlled by this company, the average yield of which, to the close of 1890, has been 9,159 tons of coal per acre. The combined length of the flat top and new river coal fields is about sixty miles, relatively equal to that of the Connelsville basin in Pennsylvania, but the breadth is more than five times as great.

The number of cars of coke shipped from the flat top district by the various railroads, increased from 8,605 in 1887, to 20,883 in 1890.

The notable feature in the table giving the distribution of these shipments is the great increase shown in shipments to points south of Bristol, Tenn., which augmented from 1,275 cars in 1887 to 6,127 cars in 1889, and 9,143 cars in 1890, evidencing the increasing demand made by the furnaces at Chattanooga, Florence, Sheffield and other points in Tennessee, Alabama and the south for coke from this region. The number of coking ovens built and in use in the Flat Top company's district has increased from 200 in 1883, to 1,833 in 1889, and 631 additional ovens were then under construction. The value of the coke at the ovens increased from $44,345 in 1883 to $542,219 in 1890.

The North American United Caledonian association, under the leadership of William Gardner, has taken action in favor of dropping the word "English" and using the word British in all references to the British empire.

MARS IN THE SOUTH.

More Information Obtained in Peru.

Observations Should be Made in the Day Time.

Professor Pickering Cables More Intelligence About Our Ruddy Neighbor.

Northfield, Minn., Aug. 30.—Professor William H. Pickering, director of Harvard college observatory, and who is stationed at Arequipa, Peru, observing the apposition of Mars, has written as follows to Astronomy and Physics, the astronomical journal published here:

"I have previously called attention to the important effect of our own atmosphere in misleading judgment as to the true colors exhibited by the heavenly bodied. A good illustration of this may be obtained from a mountain summit on a cloudy day. The distant greens of the landscape are at once changed to gray either by the passing over them of a cloud, shadow or by the passing of a very thin mist between them and the eye.

"In the former case they became darker and in the latter lighter, but in either case the greenish hue entirely disappears. The sudden changes of color exhibited by some of the smaller areas upon the planet Mars are sometimes almost startling. A recent view was obtained shortly before sunrise, when the snowy region about the south pole appeared of a most brilliant green, quite equalling in color the narrow green band situated just to the north of it.

"Later as the sun came up the color of the snow changed to a bright yellow, the rest of the disc changing in the meantime to orange.

"Later, as the seeing improved, several of the canals became visible, and the snow became as colorless as upon our surrounding mountains. The two former effects were probably due to bad seeing, the fluctuations of our own atmosphere super-poring the colors of the surrounding regions upon the snow.

"We have laid it down as a rule never to rely greatly upon our color observations unless the snow caps of the planet appear perfectly colorless and the canal system as well defined. These conditions we find always combined with the best seeing. For these delicate color observations it will, therefore, be seen that not only do we require a telescope of the best quality, but also the very best atmospheric conditions.

"In studying the smaller dark regions, such as the northwestern part of the Styrtis Major, great differences of color have been noted from night to night, and I have sketches in my possession, taken at different times, in which it is represented as grey, as green, as blue, as brown, and even as violet.

"The latter color was so extraordinary that I endeavored to have that portion of the planet appear to my eye of some other color, but it was impossible, and no other color but violet lake could be made to match it. The color upon the planet has been seen only once by me since. The brown color above noted was undoubtedly due to bad seeing. At one time I felt convinced that the real color of the darkest spots upon the planet was a deep blue, and this may in reality be the case, but of late under favorable circumstances, they have appeared to me to be of an absolute colorless grey.

"The most striking marking upon the planet and that most readily seen with a small telescope, is the Syrtis Major or Y mark. This is nearly central in the sixth position of the planet. This region in 1890 was interesting as containing the most conspicuous canals visible upon the planet excepting the large one which terminates the Syrtis Major upon the north. At this apposition these canals are too far north to be well seen. The fourth and third regions of the planet are both interesting. The second position is interesting as showing the great southern ocean, which is nearly as conspicuous as the Syrtis Major.

"We now come to a curious feature of the observations, namely, the actual change in color which, eliminating all probable sources of error, the planet really seems to undergo. When the Syrtis Major is central, before the autumnal equinox of the northern hemisphere, the region to the east is seen to be more greenish than that to the west.

As the season wears on the difference in color becomes less marked and the greenish hue is confined more closely to the region immediately bordering the Syrtis on the east. The two arms of Syrtis are not of equal breadth, the eastern arm being nearly twice as wide as the western arm. Early in 1890 the entire region enclosed between the arms of the Syrtis Major as far as the snow cap was of a brilliant green color.

"Eleven days before the vernal equinox of the southern hemisphere, a yellow spot appeared at the extreme northern point of the triangular area. As the season advanced, this yellow spot increased in area till it covered the whole region as far south as could be seen. This year, when first observed, this area was entirely green, but on May 9, or 17 days before the vernal equinox the yellow or perhaps reddish spot appeared in the same place, and it will be interesting to determine, as the season advances, if this color again advances towards the pole.

"Changes to the east of the Syrtis Major have also been noticed by Schiapperelli. These he ascribes to the extensive floods. On June 8 there was a large greenish area visible in longitude 180, latitude 30 north, and by July 16 this spot could not be found. The large crescent-shaped area in the northern part of the planet, at one time was quite dark, yet on one evening it was painted green, and the ocean to the south of it blue, the difference in color one evening being very clear.

"On March 22 of the present year the crescent was well shown but was decidedly fainter than the ocean which was again suspected of being blue, but the color could not be satisfactorily confirmed. The crescent now is too far north, owing to the motion of the planet, to be satisfactorily studied."

Prof. Pickering continues that he believes in the future some time these changes will be thoroughly understood, and laws be deduced affecting them. He thinks the greatest danger lies in optical illusion.

THE SOCIALISTS.

Work of the National Convention in New York.

A Long Platform Telling How Existing Evils Can be Wiped Out.

New York, Aug. 30.—The national convention of Socialists adopted yesterday the following platform:

First—Reduction of the hours of labor in proportion to the progress of production.

Second—The United States shall obtain possession of the railroads, canals, telegraphs, telephones, and all other means of public transportation and communication.

Third—The municipalities to obtain possession of the local railroads, ferries, water works, gas works, electric plants, and all industries requiring municipal franchises.

Fourth—The public lands to be declared inalienable. Revocation of all land grants to corporations or individuals the conditions of which have not been complied with.

Fifth—Legal incorporations by the states of local trades unions which have no national organization.

Sixth—The United States to have the exclusive right to issue money.

Seventh—Congressional legislation providing for the scientific management of forests and waterways and prohibiting the waste of the natural resources of the country.

Eighth—Inventions to be free to all; the inventors to be remunerated by the nation.

Ninth—Progressive income tax and tax on inheritances; the smaller incomes to be exempt.

Tenth—The school education of all children under 14 years of age to be compulsory, gratuitous, and accessible to all by public assistance in meals, clothing, books, etc., where necessary.

Eleventh—Repeal of all pauper, tramp, conspiracy, and sumptuary laws. Unabridged right of combination.

Twelfth—Official statistics concerning the condition of labor. Prohibition of the employment of children of school age and of the employment of female labor in occupations detrimental to health or morality. Abolition of the convict labor contract system.

Thirteenth—All wages to be paid in lawful money of the United States. Equalization of women's wages with those of men where equal service is performed.

Fourteenth—Laws for the protection of life and limb in all occupations, and an efficient employer's liability law.

Political demands:

First—The people to have the right to propose laws and to vote upon all measures of importance, according to the referendum principle.

Second—Abolition of the presidency, vice-presidency and senate of the United States. An executive board to be established, whose members are to be elected, and may at any time be recalled by the house of representatives, as the only legislative body. The states and municipalities to adopt corresponding amendments to their constitutions and statutes.

Third—Municipal self-government.

Fourth—Direct vote and secret ballots in all elections. Universal and equal right of suffrage without regard to color, creed or sex; election days to be legal holidays. The priciple of minority representation to be introduced.

Fifth—All public offices to be subject to recall by their respective constituencies.

Sixth—Uniform civil and criminal law throughout the United States. Administration of justice to be free of charge. Abolition of capital punishment.

NEWS OF THE CHOLERA

As It Sweeps From Place to Place.

Prof. Koch Thinks It Will Not Last Long.

More Deaths Reported—Cholerine in Paris—Steamers Have Marked Hamburg Off the List.

London, Aug. 30.—Donald Currie & Co. announce that the steamers of the Castle line will henceforth cease calling at Hamburg and Flushing en route to Africa and that they have ceased booking passengers for Mederia and Las Palmas.

Paris, Aug. 30.—There were four deaths including one of a hospital attendant, from cholerine yesterday and there were 30 new case of the disease.

Hamburg, Aug. 30.—At a meeting of the hospital authorities to-day it was stated that Prof. Koch was of opinion that the epidemic in this city would abate as quickly as it had increased.

London, Aug. 30.—The Right Hon. James Lowther, speaking at Ramsgate to-day, urged that the public welfare demanded that the government, with or without warrant of law, should at once prohibit immigration, while the danger from cholera menaced Great Britain.

He would pledge the support of the conservatives should it be necessary, to indemnify the government for any action it might taken in defense of the public health against the cholera scourge. This, declared the speaker, was not a time to be pedantic, or to stand on the letter of the law, in face of a great public danger.

New York, Aug. 30.—Postmaster Vancott to-day sent a communication to the health department stating that in view of the prevalence of cholera at ports from which mails are received that such mails should be disinfected.

The postoffice authorities have no appliances nor men to do this work and the postmaster requests that the health authorities assign men to make the necessary disinfection.

New York, Aug. 30.—The report that cholera had broken out in Havana decided the quarantine officials to be more careful about steamships coming from that port. It is not thought that the report is true, but they have decided to be on the lookout for it. The next vessel from there is the Yucatan, due here to-day.

New York, Aug. 30.—Messrs. Oelrichs & Co., agents of the North German steamships, have received a dispatch stating that it is officially denied by the authorities that a single case of Asiatic cholera exists in Bremen.

St. Louis, Aug. 30.—Chief Sanitary Officer Francis to-day addressed a letter to Health Commissioner Brennan, in which he calls attention to the telegraphic reports of cholera in Europe.

He advises as a matter of precaution that a thorough house to house inspection be made to protect the city against the scourge. The general sanitary condition of the city is good but the authorities will take energetic measures to prevent the disease obtaining a foothold.

London, Aug. 30.—Ida Samuan, a Russian Pole, from Hamburg, was admitted into the London hospital to-day, dying with a disease believed to be Asiatic cholera. Carolina Lane, an English girl, aged 10 years, was also admitted to the London hospital, believed to be suffering from Asiatic cholera.

Panama, via Galveston, Aug. 30.—It is reported that Asiatic cholera exists in Venezuela. The long continued rebellion has caused sanitary conditions to be more or less neglected, and this, together with the bad and impure water supply and the great scarcity of proper food, is said to have aided the disease in its progress after its introduction.

Yellow fever is still epidemic in Venezuela, especially so among the soldiers of both government and Crespo, the rebel leader. The mortality among the troops is very great.

New York, Aug. 30.—The New York correspondent of La Lucha, published at Havana, Cuba, received a cable message from the editor of that paper denying the story sent from Mexico that cholera had broken out in Cuba.

Paris, Aug. 30.—The hospitals are being put in condition for an epidemic. More cases have come to light that are suspected of being the genuine Asiatic cholera.

London, Aug. 30.—The cholera news from various quarters continues alarming. The barque Helene which left Hamburg on August 20, for America, has been detained at Dover, on account of sickness on board. Last evening the Helene was towed to Gravesend and two of the crew, afflicted with Asiatic cholera, were taken to land and put in a hospital. The bark Silvio of Hamburg is detained at Gravesend on suspicion that there may be cholera on board.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

An "Unloaded" Revolver Gets in Its Deadly Work.

Defiance, O., Aug. 30.—(Special)—James McGoon, a laborer, aged 39 and married, was accidentally shot last evening by Eugene Seymour, a boy of 19, who boarded with him.

Seymour was fooling with an "unloaded" revolver, when it was discharged, the bullet crashing into McGoon's brain.

The two men were always good friends. They came here from North Baltimore last April. McGoon leaves a widow and four children.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Upper Sandusky, O., Aug. 30.—(Special)—County Commissioner Bixby was thrown violently from a carriage this morning, in a runaway, and was dangerously injured. His arm was broken and numerous cuts and bruises were sustained. Internal injury is feared.

SOCIAL SCIENCE.

Continuation of the Saratoga Meeting.

Children Should be Taught on New Lines.

Show Them the Beautiful and the Aesthetic and They Will Easily Cultivate Like Ideas.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 30.—To-day's session of the department of education of the American Social Science association began at 9:30 this morning with a large attendance of interested members.

Chairman Merrill Edward Gates, president of Amherst college, addressed the department, speaking of the effect of the department upon the system of education now in vogue; the advancement over the old system of imparting knowledge; and the bright future and constant improvement of America's system of education in her schools, colleges and universities.

The reports of the secretary were by Dr. L. F. Bryson of New York, who also spoke on "Education as a Therapeutic Measure."

An interesting and lucid paper on "Public Libraries as a Factor in Education," followed, read by Miss Hewins of the Hartford library.

The succeeding half hour was occupied by the reading of a paper on "The Educational Value of Modern Economies," by Starr Hoyt Nichols, of New York.

Perhaps the most interesting paper read was by Miss Myra B. Martin, of New York, on "Art Education in American Life."

In this Miss Martin spoke of the awakening of the American public in the past two decades to the importance of children's education and the cultivation of a love for the aesthetic and beautiful in the mechanical and practical side of life.

"The first movement to incorporate art education on a sound basis was made in Massachusetts in 1870. The philanthropists' gifts to art reach but few. How to reach the masses is the question. Children of all classes spend half their awakening hours in the school room: here the refining influences can and do reach them. We know that as a nation we are not trained aesthetically, and to hush our conscience we proudly point to our developments in other lines. There are at least three classes who hold contrary opinions as to aims and methods of diffusing an art education.

"First—Those who believe in the mechanical side only of manual training.

"Second—Those who would develop the artistic element only, and

"Third—The rapidly increasing element who believe in bringing mechanical skill and the aesthetical together so that by a combination of the two studies our artisans may be able to enter into successful competition with the old world.

"We export immense quantities of crude material and buy a small amount of the same material at prices from two to twenty times as great because of the artistic industry employed in making up the raw materials—as is shown in the case of textiles, bronzes, etc.

"The creed of the third class may be translated as "the aims of modern art education," viz.: The awakening and developing in our people, first—love of beauty, both in nature's and man's work; second—power to put beauty into one's own work.

"In conclusion, the essential principles of all good art are immediately and practically translatable into the terms of every day life. The infusion of the genuine art spirit into public education must necessarily be a long, slow process, but as far and as fast as the art spirit does become a reality to the people, so far simplicity and consistency must needs seem desirable in our modes of life—truth, unity and harmony in man's relation to his neighbors.

THE ELECTION BOARD

Decides on a Plan for Redistricting the City.

Fourteen New Precincts to be Added —A Committee of Eighteen Appointed to Co-Operate.

This morning the committee appointed by the board of elections some time ago met and formulated a plan tending to the re-districting of the city.

According to the plan the following extra precincts will be added to the various wards:

First ward, two extra; Second ward, one extra; Third ward, one extra; Fourth ward, one extra; Sixth ward, three extra; Seventh ward, two extra; Eighth ward, three extra; Ninth ward, one extra; total, 14.

The committee has asked the co-operation of two citizens in each ward—one democrat and one republican—in the matter with the view of equalizing the precincts.

Mr. Ellis said this morning to a Bee that the chief object was to give as nearly as possible each precinct 500 votes, which would effect a fair average. As it is now several precincts have as high as 500 votes.

The committee selected the names of 18 gentlemen who will be asked to meet and advise with the members and report a plan of subdivison.

Notices will be sent out to the readjusters to-day and the work of redistricting the city will be completed on about September 10.

It is a heavy task and much time and labor will be necessary to give entire satisfaction. The board proposes doing as nearly right as possible and will undoubtedly make a thoroughly honest jerry-mander.

DEFIANCE DEMOCRATS.

Defiance, Aug. 30.—At the county convention the democrats nominated W. I. Rath for sheriff, Ludwig Klein for commissioner, E. J. Todd for infirmary director. They will be elected easily. The nominee for sheriff is a compromise, as there was a bitter fight for the place. The county is safe in the democratic ranks. All is now harmonious.

THE TENNIS PLAYERS.

The State Tournament Opened This Morning.

Toledo Players Won From Cincinnati and Columbus.

Will Gosline Wins a Game—Miss Closterman Making Things Lively—A Party of Cincinnati People Arrive.

The fifth annual tournament of the Ohio State Lawn Tennis association opened up this morning at the grounds of the Outing club, out Monroe street. The tournament promises to be the most exciting and hotly contested the association has ever held. The best of the old players have entered the lists and a number of new aspirants for recognition on the courts are in the race and it is said they will worry the old time favorites.

This is Will Goslin's first appearance in a state tournament. His phenomenal work at Detroit some two weeks ago when he won the championship game from the Detroit Athletic club players will be remembered.

H. S. Woodbury and George Shaw, of Toledo, are also making their debut in contests for state honors.

C. H. Farber, of Columbus, is going to worry his opponents. He has developed into a wonderful player during the past year, having won the championship of the Ohio inter-collegiate contests and holding the championship of the Ohio State university.

Horace Suydam, Geo. Mills, Frank Chapman, H. H. Cushing, Frank Dodge, H. P. Dodge, W. W. Coldham and Oliver Rogers were appointed a committee on arrangements for the tournament and they are kept busy looking after the wants of the comfort of the visitors.

The young ladies, the old ladies and the middle-aged ladies, with their escorts, attended this morning's contests in large numbers. Among the on-lookers were quite a party of Cincinnati people made up of the following ladies and gentlemen: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hargrave, Miss Hobart, Miss Kate Jordan, Mrs. E. W. Hobart, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rose, Mrs. Joseph Closterman, Miss Nora Closterman, Mrs. Clarence Jones, Miss Mary Melish and Mrs. Rogers, of Denver.

There will be five events: Gentlemen's singles, gentlemen's doubles, ladies' singles, ladies' doubles, and the championship game in singles.

The drawing resulted in pairing off the contestants asfollows:

Gentlemen's singles—H. S. Woodbury, of Toledo, against Dr. W. W. Coldham, of Toledo.

Will Gosline, of Toledo, against Nat Emerson, of Cincinnati.

George Shaw, of Toledo, against B. P. Hollister, of Cincinnati.

A. H. Coldham, of Toledo, against C. H. Farber, of Columbus.

H. P. Dodge against E. W. Hobart, of Cincinnati.

In the gentlemen's doubles, H. P. Dodge and Will Gosline, of Toledo, will play against the champion of the state, T. S. Beckwith and a Cleveland dark horse yet to be named, undoubtedly Sturtevant.

B. P. Hollister and Nat Emerson, of Cincinnati, will play Woodbury and Shaw, of Toledo in the preliminary round. The winners will then be pitted against the Coldham brothers, who make a strong team, and the pair that wins will then slay the winners of the Dodge, Gosline, Beckwith game.

In the ladies' singles, in the preliminary round, Miss Sprague, of Cleveland, will be pitted against Miss Jordan, of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Lloyd, of Toledo, will play Miss Closterman, of Cincinnati, a [illegible] miss who is said to be a phenomenon. The winner will play Miss Whittaker, of Toledo. The winners of which game will progress and meet either Miss Sprague or Miss Jordan in the second round.

In ladies' doubles Miss Baker and Miss Hitchcock, of Toledo, will play against Misses Closterman [illegible] Cincinnati; the winners to play Miss Whittaker and Mrs. Lloyd, of Toledo, in the finals.

The contests opened up lively. In the gentlemen's singles some good games were put up.

The scores below are given up to noon, when it commenced to rain and stopped the morning's playing:

H. S. Woodbury and Dr. W. W. Coldham played an even game. Coldham took the first set 6-2 and Woodbury won the second set, 6-4. When the rain came up both were struggling heard for the third set and game, with the score even, 5 all. Frank Baumgardner was referee and Geo. Shaw and John Pratt were umpires.

Will Gosline had a walk over with Nat Emerson, of Cincinnati. Mr. Emerson is an excellent player, but somehow or other young Gosline has developed an astonishing proficiency with the raquet and ball and won the preliminary, score 6-3; 6-8. Wm. Smith acted as referee and Burton Hollister and Harry Cummings were umpires.

A. H. Coldham had a tough tussle with C. H. Faber, of Columbus, and beat him; score: 6-2; 6-3. Mr. Faber is an easy, cool-headed player and although he worried Mr. Coldham and placed the balls where it made the weighty attorney hustle to get there, he was obliged to bow to the latter's cunning. Russell Reeder was referee and Herman Bond and Herbert Aldrich acted as umpires.

H. P. Dodge, of Toledo, beat E. W. Hobart, of Cincinnati, in the preliminary round, score 6—2; 6—0.

In the first round H. P. Dodge will play Ashton Coldham. The gentleman who wins will then play either George Shaw or B. P. Hollister, whichever wins the preliminary. Will Gosline is already in the second round, waiting Woodbury to beat W. H. Coldham or Coldham to beat Woodbury. Hollister is going to make himself felt in the singles when he gets going. He recently won second place in the new England tournament.

The ladies' singles were also commenced this morning. Miss Closterman and Mrs. Lloyd were the contestants. Miss Closterman won the first set, 6—1, and when the rain came up was in the lead on the second set. The Cincinnati people say she will win first place in ladies' singles beyond a doubt, as they know what she can do. Will Smith was referee of the game and L. C. Rose and Frank Chapman umpires.

Stray Balls.

Everybody has an eye on Will Gosline.

The ladies served tea and wafers this morning.

Championship Beckwith will arrive this afternoon.

Playing each day will commence at 10 a. m. and 3 p. m.

A general jollification will be held Thursday evening.

Rev. Chas. Scadding was an interested spectator this morning.

Dr. S. S. Thorn dropped in on the players this forenoon.

A business meeting of the association will be held this evening.

Miss Closterman is a member of the Price Hill club, Cincinnati.

Toledo rather got the big end of things this morning, but then "there's many a slip—"

A. H. Coldham, although he tips the scales toa goodly sum, can get around as lively as the featherweights.

Billy Besgrove, the best court maker in the world, so the members of the club say, has the grounds in excellent condition.

THE TWO BIG FIGHTERS

Thousands Cheer Sullivan and Corbett.

Change in the Wheel Racing Rules.

Result of the Athletic Contests in Detroit—Base Ball Gossip—Turf Notes.

New York, Aug. 30.—If ever a man received a hearty welcome it was John L. Sullivan when he arrived at the Flatbush avenue depot of the Long Island railroad, fresh from his training quarters at Canoe Place Inn, near Good Ground.

It was John's first appearance in this city since he went down to the lower end of the island to go into training for his great battle with James J. Corbett for the championship of the world, and the crowd was anxious to see what the big fellow really looked like after his long siege of training.

The train was half an hour late, but that cut no figure with the enthusiasts as the crowd kept swelling in number until it took a platoon of policemen to keep a free passage so the average person could pass through the crowd in Indian file. Every available place for a view of the champion was occupied, even to the lamp posts and supports of the elevated railroad.

A happy thought struck some of the long-headed men in the crowd and they gave up 5 cents for a grand stand position by paying their fare on the Fifth avenue elevated road and remaining on the platform to get a glimpse of Sullivan when he arrived. The big fellow came at last, even though it was suspected that he had skipped the train at some other point.

To avoid the crowd Sullivan was hurried through a private exit into the main depot and up the stairs towards the elevated station. As he went through the passage he was followed by the admiring crowd, who cheered him to the echo. When he got around to the street, instead of going upon the train, he shot down on the street and started for his carriage, which was only reached through the assistance of two mounted policemen who had to ride through the crowd and disperse them, while the other officers escorted him to the hack.

There must have been full a thousand persons present.

The carriage was driven rapidly to Phil Casey's hand ball court, but Sullivan and Casey had scarcely arrived when the crowd began to gather, and in half an hour there were several hundred people gathered in and around the place. Sullivan was taken up stairs to a private room, where he refused to see any of his friends. A barber was called in and the big fellow was sitting on a chair in the middle of the floor when the reporter called upon him. His skin was clear and healthy looking and his general appearance was fine, with the exception of his stomach, which looked a trifle large and soft.

It was a great, seething, howling crowd that crushed its way into the Clermont avenue rink, in Brooklyn, to witness the reception tendered John L. Sullivan. As early as 7 o'clock there was a large gathering at the rink's door. The small boy was there in force, had been there in fact ever since school was let out. Then the horse cars and elevated roads began to deposit their burdens at the corner.

At 7:30 o'clock the string of pedestrians was unbroken. They came three and four abreast for awhile, but then they came in battalions.

The helmets of the police officers bobbed up and down everywhere and there was the best of order. The elite of the sporting fraternity was there to see what Sullivan looked like after his eight weeks of training and to get an idea of what the man was who would carry their hopes and their dollars at New Orleans. Charlie John, who has allied his hopes to Sullivan's prowess for so many years, was the most conspicious person in the throng. He was smiling and happy. His looks were those of a man who is looking earnestly forward to success.

In the center of the immense rink was pitched the twenty-four-foot ring, and around it the multitude surged. There was an unbroken sea of faces stretching from the ring away back to the walls and upon the galleries. It was, of course, a typical crowd. Many had followed Sullivan through his fighting career, and many had seen him win his greatest victories. He is their one star in their heaven of pugilism and they delight to gaze on him. There was a half dozen bouts at the beginning, in which some local fighters showed themselves.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the man of the evening appeared and as he emerged from the dressing-room and walked towards the ring there was pandemonium. Jack Ashton followed the champion. A great floral harp, on which was inscribed "John L. Sullivan, champion of the world," was handed into the the ring and as Sullivan turned and bowed to the audience the howling grew louder. There were cries of "Speech," and then the big fellow said: "I thank you for the hearty applause and appreciation. I believe I have the good will of all the people here this evening on my last appearance before my last fight. That fight will decide whether I am the John L. Sullivan of old or the John L. Sullivan who has passed by. I am not going to speak disparingly of Mr. Corbett. All I will say is that I am most glad to appear here. I have deceived you once, but let bygones be bybones. I am going to stop speaking now and you will nexthear from me on the 7th of September."

Sullivan's words were punctuated by the wildest yelling. Then there were shouts for Phil Casey, and that modest gentleman was dragged into the ring. There appeared to be a good deal of flesh on Sullivan as he sat in his corner. His eyes were bright and flashing, and his face has hardened and tanned. His shoulders are in splendid condition, and his muscles show excellently. There appeared, however, to be lots of fat over his stomach and on his back. It is very strange if he does not weigh in the vicinity of 220 pounds. Hen erspired very freely when he sparred three rounds with Jack Ashton, but showed the agility of a cat as he went around the ring. His actions were like lighting. He wore a confident, hardened air that could not be mistaken.

He went at Ashton very hard, tapping him at short intervals twice with the left and once with the right. Although he only touched his companion on the neck and shoulders, he had been very tired at the end of each round. It was remarked that Sullivan puffed a good deal after the finish of the rounds. The wrinkle of fat over his waistband heaved in and out to no small degree. Still his admirers feel that he is in prime condition. His flesh is well colored, and his striking force is as marvelous, as ever. His legs are in the best of form.

Corbett showed his shapely limbs and muscles to a crowd of 5,000 admirers at at Madison Square Garden again. Everyone was enthusiastic over the appearance of the ex-bank clerk, and loudly applauded the man who will attempt to wrest the championship laurels from John L. Sullivan. Many of the athletic clubs of this city and vicinity were present. The crowd was a good-natured one and cheerfully accepted the slightest entertainment afforded them until Corbett appeared. There were some preliminary bouts to whet the impatience of the audience. It was 10:50 when Steve O'Donnell, master of ceremonies, introduced Corbett amid great cheers. He was accompanied by John McVay, of Philadelphia, who was to oppose him.

The young Californian walked from his dressing quarters to the ring while cheer after cheer went up. He sprang lightly up the steps and bowed to the assembled multitude. Corbett wore green stockings white pants, and a green belt. Before he had taken his seat three cheers were given for him. Then the crowd, in audible criticism, passed on the Californian's condition.

Indeed, Corbett did not look as if much were the matter with him. There was a very pretty exhibition of boxing between Corbett and McVay. McVay, however, was too beefy and altogether too slow for the star of the evening.

Things livened up more in the bout between Corbett and his boxing partner Jim Daly. Though Daly is not heavy enough for Corbett there was some very pretty, quick fighting and Corbett had a chance to show his nimbleness.

He is remarkably quick and his clean science urged the spectators up to a shouting point. There is no doubt that despite his somewhat disappointing development Corbett made a host of friends by his clever methods and his evident splendid condition.

The boxing bouts with Corbett over, the crowd dispersed to think the matter over and discuss the value of Corbett's stock in New Orleans on September 7.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 30.—In the amateur championship athletic games at the exposition, the quarter-mile run was the great event. Jackman, of the Michigan A. A., Harry Jewett, Detroit Athletic club, Stage and Nesbitt, C. A. C., Hitchings, Pastime A. C., and Holland, M. A. A., took part. This was Harry Jewett's first appearance on any track as a quarter-miler, and he astonished even his trainer, Mike Murphy, by winning in the wonderful time of 49 4-5 seconds. This is faster by more than a second than a quarter mile was ever run in this part of the country. W. C. Downs won the championship of America last year in 51 seconds, and the record is 47 3-4 seconds made by Wendell Barker, of Harvard college, on a straightway course. Jewett's performance was all the more remarkable because he had just won the 100 and 220-yard races. On a measurement the track proved to be five yards short, but even with this allowance Jewett beat the American champion's time. John Thompson, C. A. C., threw the 16-pound shot 35 feet 7 inches, and was the winner. One hundred yards Four started in this event, Harry Jewett, D. A. C.; W. C. Stage, Cleveland A. C.; L. D. Cabanne, Pastime A. C., and A. C. Tirall, D. A. C. Jewett won by two yards, having secured a safe lead in the first 50 yards, although the Cleveland man kept well after him. Stage finished second, Cabanne third; time, 10 1-5. Two hundred and twenty yard run—Jewett and Stage had Stage had it out again in this even and once more the Detroit champion won. The two sprinters looked near enough alike to be twins. Stage saw he was beaten when he reached the 75 yards mark and he was satisfied to finish second two yards behind Jewett. Ed Horn got third and Hitchings, the Pastime's man, did not finish. Time, 24 seconds. These were all the events that Cleveland men took part in. The half-mile run was won by Jackman, of Detroit, in 2:07 4-5. W. C. Rands, Michigan's crack bicyclist, won the mile bicycle race easily in 2:55 4-5. Theodore Luce, D. A. C., won the 120 yards hurdle race in 16 2-3 seconds. James Magee, D. A. C., won the mile walk in 7:37. Will Devine, M. A. A., won the mile run in 4:39 4-5. Cabanne, of the Pastime club of St. Louis, won the 220 yards hurdle race in 26 4-5 seconds.

New York, Aug. 30.—The racing board of the League of American Wheelmen has been making a careful study of its rules the past week, and the discovery was made that if a man disregarded a penalty of suspension placed upon him the board had not provided for such a case and could do nothing. No time was lost, however, to remedy the defect by the adoption of the following rule:

Any person, under suspension, who shall enter or compete in any race in public or for a prize shall be liable to further suspension for such contempt of rules at the discretion of the national racing board.

The knowledge of the fact that all the men who are under suspension could have gone on and competed will be a sad blow to some of the men who will now learn the fact too late to break out and defy the board.

The action of a certain referee who recently officiated at a meet in Philadelphia in allowing the scratch men to ride in the final without qualifying for the same in the trial heats has been taken up by the board and his decision adversely commented upon and amendments to the racing rules adopted that will prevent any such action on the part of referees in the future. It is decided by the board that such discrimination is manifestly unfair to the other men in the race to allow such a method of procedure to gain prominence. Such a decisin on the part of a referee forces the handicap men to ride twice the distance to win a race that the scratch men cover.

It has been known for some time that the racing board were considering the advisability of appointing official timers, and also investigating the wisdom of continuing the present method of running the championship events. The outcome of the deliberations on these points is interesting, inasmuch as it puts the board on record, and will be seriously acted upon by the next board. As regards official timers, it has been decided not to appoint this season, owing to the lateness, and as the territory to be covered in this country is so much greater than that abroad, where the system is in vogue, it would be foolish to attempt to properly cover the ground until a thorough districting of the country could be made. The matter is therefore recommended to the next board with the suggestion that such a system be adopted.

Official declaration is made that the present system of championships open to winners of division championships only is not the most desirable method, and the recommendation made that they be thrown open to the world. This is the proper meaning of the championship term in its broadest sense, and should prevail. Next year they will undoubtedly be run that way.

It has been decided not to sanction bicycle races scheduled for Sundays. The reason for this move is that it is believed that the sport cannot be elevated by such events, and they should be discouraged by the board.

Sanctions have been granted to the following clubs to hold races: Medina Bicycle club, Medina, O., September 7 and 8; Newburg Athletic club, Newburg, O., September 5; Canton Bicycle club, Canton, O., September 5; Lansing Bicycle club, Lansing, Mich., September 16; Zig-Zag Cycling club, Indianapolis, Ind., September 9 and 10; Delaware City Fair association, Delaware, O., September 7 and 8; Oak Leaf Wheelmen, Stockton, Cal., September 16 and 17; Mobile Athletic association, Mobile, Ala., September 9.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 30.—The weather for tennis was as good almost Monday as that of Friday and Saturday was bad, and the courts were restored to their usual excellent condition. The crowd was by far the largest of the tournament.

Play began a few minutes before 11 o'clock between Hovey and Wrenn. Hovey played more carefully, and as a result took the set and the match.

The match between Larned and E. T. Hall was a more than usually good exhibition. Hall started in at a fast and easily ran away with the first set. He then dropped off and Larned, who had been somewhat nervous at first, braced wonderfully. He took the second set, love, and got a good lead in the third before Hall regained his game. It was too late, though, and this also went to Larned. Hall showed his usual improvement in the fourth, and by superior work, ran out, 6—1.

The fifth and deciding set looked like Hall's, as, after the score stood 2 all, he carried it to 4—2 and 5—3. But Larned stayed well and soon had the score even again. Hall got the odd game, but could not win the next. Then Larned took the thirteenth, and though Hall had the next 40—15, pulled up to deuce, and finally won, 8—6.

It was a grand exhibition of plucky uphill work, and the match was won on the merits of the play, which was strong and even brilliant on both sides. The result was another surprise, though a few had thought it likely Larned might win. The outcome of the final match is now much discussed. Hovey is the favorite, though Larned's remarkable work causes many to look upon him as a possible winner.

MRS. ALICE BUTTERFIELD.

She Did Not Commit Suicide, but Fell in a Fit.

New York, Aug. 30.—Mrs. Alice M. Butterfield, wife of A. G. Butterfield, the Rockaway jeweler, and who was supposed to have committed suicide by drowning yesterday, was found late in the afternoon lying in a cataleptic state in a clump of bushes near the house of Wm. Raynor at Good Ground, L. I., where she had been passing the summer.

She was unconscious and unable to move a muscle. Her arms and her limbs as well as her head fell back limply when moved, and to all outward appearances she was dead.

A more careful examination showed that life was not extinct. Medical assistance was summoned, but she has not yet revived and lies in a cataleptic state.

AS SUSPECTS.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—Two men and a woman were arrested here yesterday on suspicion of being French dynamiters who took part in the recent Paris outrages. The accused protest their innocence, and nothing of a suspicious character was found in their trunks, which were searched carefully. The detectives refuse to give their names or any information about them.

HIMSELF NO MORE.

Harry Kernel's Mind is Unbalanced.

An Attempt to Appear in Public Again Proved a Disastrous Failure.

New York, Aug. 30.—Harry Kernell, the once favorite Celtic comedian, of whom it had recently been reported that his mind had become unbalanced, made his first appearance of the season last night at Tony Pastor's theater.

A large crowd filled the house and awaited his entrance with anxiety. He ambled forth in his customary shiftless way but what a change. He plainly was himself no more. He told a limp story, gave out a few tame jokes and then attempted to spin a yarn in his former inimitable way about an old Irish woman attending a Methodist church.

He got but a short way with the story when he stopped, looked pleadingly at the right stage entrance and in a weak voice, gulped: "Well, he's like all Irishmen. They are supposed to go crazy sometime." The result was distressing. The remark was so irrelevant that a loud hiss went up. His fellow performers aided him, but thus he stood, through song and dance, grinning foolishly, faulty in memory and walking off at the most inopportune times.

All the performers who saw him agree that it would be folly to permit him to continue on the stage.

This "Whitcomb Riley" style of twisting verses all around,
To illustrate some meaning, or sentiment profound,
Now comes in very handy to describe our PANTS display;

For instance ( ) for bow-legged men we've this way,

And then for men whose legs have that graceful line, the curve,
But who in spite of that defect most certainly deserve
A pair of TROUSERS that will fit, our clerks polite will show

A pair (×) shaped something just like this from the hip to toe.

Then for the man who prides himself upon his shately limbs,
We've patterns new, and prices right to satisfy his whims,
And when he leaves the store, of course, his heart is filled with bliss,

Because he's got a pair of PANTS shaped nice and straight like this.

The Little Foundling.

The baby left at the door of Mr. Cooney's residence a few weeks ago has given the infirmary directors and humane officers considerable trouble, it seeming impossible to find a home for it. The directors at first decided it must go to the poor house, but reconsidered the matter, and it will be taken to-day to Mrs. Ware's on Monroe street, where it will be boarded until a home can be found for it. The child is now two months old and very pretty.

Machinists' Meeting.

Carpenters' hall was the place of meeting of the Machinists' union, last evening, the object being the discussion of Labor day, but owing to so few members being present, the meeting was postponed until Friday evening, when it is desired that every member be present at Carpenters' hall, where the meeting will be held.

The small attendance last evening is supposed to be due to a misunderstanding, as to where the meeting place was.

Talleymen in Line.

The Tallymen's union held the fortnightly meeting last night at Druid hall, and initiated five new members.

Arrangements for Labor day were discussed, and the union decided to spare no expense in order to make a fine showing in the parade. They will carry a beautiful banner and be accompanied by a drum corps, and as their numbers are large, they would undoubtedly capture the prize flag, were they not affiliated with the Central body.

Fifth Ward Democratic Marching Club.

All members of the old marching club of '88 and as many others who desire to become members of the new club are earnestly requested to meet at John Schlagheck's, No. 719 South Ct. Meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock sharp.

Stearnes in Cleveland.

Edward Stearnes, proprietor of the gambling house in Toledo which was attached by a deputy sheriff of Lucas county on one of the suits commenced by Gray, Jenks & Co., came to this city yesterday to investigate the matter. He said at the county jail that he knew no such person as John C. Campbell, and that to the best of his belief Campbell was never in his place. He will contest the suit. His gambling outfit has already been replevined and taken from the sheriff.—Cleveland Leader.

Fourteenth Reunion.

The reunion of the old Fourteenth O. V. V. I., Maj. Gen. James B. Steedman, Toledo's first regiment in the war for the union, will be held, by invitation of the good people of Waterville, at that place on Thursday, September 1. Assembly call at the Union depot at 6:25, Standard time. Erie street, Clover Leaf depot, 7:05, for caboose. Basket picnic is the order of the day. Round trip tickets from this city 50 cents. Further information from Capt. Chase Bigelow, Col. Neubert or Leroy Clark at postoffice building.

No Appointment Yet.

State Inspector of Workshops McDonald was in the city yesterday with a view of further looking into the appointment.

"No, I have made no appointment as yet," he said to a Bee, "and wont until Gov. McKinley returns. One thing you can say, however, and that is that my appointee shall be a member of organized labor."

It is understood that neither Fowler nor Beard are in the race. Both are rather old men, but are good republicans and thoroughly in accord with labor unionism.

It will therefore be either Otto or Canfield, with the chances in favor of the latter about 10 to 1.

Working Girls' Meeting.

The Working Girls' union met with the organizing committee of the Central Labor union last evening, and as the meeting was an open one, a number of girls outside the union were present.

The members decided to take part in the Labor day celebration, and will acquaint the committee on arrangements of their intention at the meeting Thursday evening.

When the weather becomes cooler, a mass meeting of the working girls and women of the city will be arranged for, and an effort made to organize a society, or union, that will admit to its membership all working girls, irrespective of trade, thus including house girls, shop, factory, office girls, etc.

With the large number of women in Toledo who are toilers, there is no reason why such a society should not be a success.

The next meeting of the Working Girls' union will be held Thursday evening, September 15.

THE SYNDICATE FAKIR

Successfully Fakes A Fake Toledo Newspaper.

One day last week the Cincinnati Enquirer printed a thrilling snake story, located in the mountains of Virginia. Two women killed a rattler and took it home. A day or two after the mate of the snake found its way into the home of the women and was dispatched with a revolver. A Toledo syndicate hunter for news and newspaper suckers worked over the story, located it in Monroe, Mich., and had two Sandusky women kill it. The fake was sent to all the Toledo papers yesterday marked "important." Only one swallowed the bait, the Blade, of course, and so the Enquirer's boiled down yarn appeared last night as a "special" from Monroe. Great on fakirs, in and out of newspaper offices.

Bound Down.

Sand Beach, Aug. 30.—The tug Favorite left last night with the steamer Coffinberry for the Port Huron dry-dock.

Buffalo.

Buffalo, Aug. 30.—It is believed that less than 55c has been taken for coal to Chicago, and Milwaukee as rates are weak all around.

The union line this morning is moving freight under normal conditions for the first time sice the strike.

The steamers Pabst and Schlesinger were placed for coal to Milwaukee.

Port Huron, Aug. 30.—Steamer Rhoda Emily is at anchor at the Corsica shoals. She lost her rudder and stern post. Repairs will be made here.

The steamer Coffinberry, which was ashore at Port Hope, arrived at 8 o'clock this morning. She is not leaking much and will be unloaded before docking her here.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Although business was slow, boats were being taken at 2 1-4 cents for wheat to Buffalo to-day, and vessel men were confident that a break had been averted.

Through the Straits.

Mackinaw, Aug. 30.—Up—Chicago, 9 last night; Felicitous, Raab, 6; Brockway, Wells, Law, Marion, 6:30; Lock, 7; Aztec Frapotec, Annie Grover, 10:30; Ames, 11:

Up—Keystone, consort, 7 last night; Olympic, 11; Ayer, C. H. Johnson, 7 a. m.; Sigel, 7:40; Burton, 8; William Chisholm, 8:20; wind southwest, strong; raining.

Among this morning's charters were the Onoko for 110,000 bushels of wheat, and the R. R. Rhodes, wheat and corn to Buffalo, and Kelderhouse, oats to Midland at 1 1-2 cents. Cleveland shippers are trying to get boats for ore. Two Harbors and Ashland to Ohio ports, at $1, and are offering but 95 cents to South Chicago. There are no present indications of a decline in the 70 cents Escanaba ore rate, but ore freights are generally dull and weak.

Schooner Ashore.

Detroit, Aug. 30.—The schooner Tokio, bound down in tow of the Raleigh, is aground at Grosse Point. Her cargo of ore will probably have to be lightered.

MORE TANGLES.

The Iron Hall Gets Into Court in Boston.

Boston, Aug. 30.—Judge Morton in the supreme court this forenoon granted a temporary injunction against the order of the Iron Hall on each of two bills in equity.

The order entered by Judge Morton is that for the purpose of preserving the status quo pending the hearing upon the application for the appointment of a receiver and an injunction, all monies, books, papers and other property of the defendant corporation in Massachusetts remain as they now are till the further action of some justice of the supreme court.

Judge Morton declined to include in the present order a protection of members in case they refused to pay assessments levied, saying that for that a separate application should be made by counsel.

ABOUT THOSE DIAMONDS

They Have Been Satisfactorily Accounted for,

So Far as the Honesty of Mr. Broer is Concerned.

Over $24,000 Worth of Sparklers Invested in Three Patents and Kentucky Land—They Are Not Wholly Worthless.

There is not so much mystery about the Broer jewelry failure, when certain facts relative to the disposition of the diamonds are known. Nothing has been said in the Bee about the possible whereabouts of the diamonds with the exception of between $4,000 and 5,000 worth, which were invested in notes and mortgages upon land in Kentucky for the reason that Mr. Kohn, Mr. Broer's attorney, deemed it wise to keep the matter quiet for a short time, with a view of realizing something upon the value of the investments.

Since the first of the year Mr. Broer has purchased about $25,000 worth of diamonds. As none of them were found in stock when the invoice was made, there has been much discussion pro and con as to what disposition had been made of the gems.

When the Kentucky land deal was given to the public by the Bee Mr. Kohn stated that he could account for the diamonds all right and would do so at the proper time, but that he did not want to be premature in the matter.

Even Mr. Broer's creditors would not charge him with dishonesty, believing that when the time came the disposition of the demands would be made known.

Mr. Kohn has been keeping these affairs quiet in the interest of Mr. Broer's creditors more than for any other reason, simply because what assetts may be developed or what revenue my be derived from the investment will be turned over to the creditors.

From day to day, when the matter was first given out by the Bee, insinuations have been flaunted and charges freely made by an afternoon paper sore over being scooped, that Mr. Broer had purchased the diamonds with dishonest intentions and hinted that he knew more about their whereabouts than he cared to tell.

This has all been very tiresome to Mr. Kohn, and this morning, in conversation with a Bee, he said:

"I have firmly asserted on several occasions that Mr. Broer has been and is thoroughly honest in this matter. He has been in the jewelry business in Toledo for over 20 years, and I do not think that there is to-day a business man in the city who enjoys a better reputation for sure pay with the people they buy goods of than Mr. Broer did with these New York wholesale dealers. His credit was gilt-edged, and he could buy as much as he wanted of any of them. I will venture to say that there is not one of them who to-day will say that Mr. Broer bought these diamonds with dishonest intentions. I have made this same statement to the representative of another afternoon paper, but they seem convinced that Mr. Broer has been acting dishonestly and are determined to cling to this theory, which is being exceedingly tiresome. I had not intended to say anything about these securities cling to this theory, which is becoming exceedingly tiresome. I had not intended to say anything about these securities until later, but these insinuations and charges made daily, in justice to Mr. Broer and myself, leave me no alternative.

"You have made a correct report of the investment of $3,300 in notes secured bymortgage on land in Ketucky. I have forwarded these mortgages to Kentucky for investigation and have learned nothing from them as yet. They may be worth 100 cents on a dollar and they may not be worth anything.

"Aside from this Mr. Broer has invested $21,000 in three patents. One is a patent cuff holder, purchased of a St. Louis man through Toledo parties; another is a bicycle known as the West patent, and the other is an attachment for a job printing press, known as a sheet deliver. He owns the cuff holder patent by himself. In the sheet deliverer he owns a three-quarter interest.

"These patents have been purchased wholly with diamonds, a majority of which have been traded since the first of the year. This is $24,300 worth of securities in which diamonds have been invested. To buy these it required more than that amount of stock, so that you can see that about all of the diamonds purchased since the first of the year are accounted for. From the best information I can obtain these investments have some value. I have laid the matter before the crelitors and they think so, and are inclined to wait and see what can be realized on them. There is one of the patent sheet deliverers in use in the city at the present time."

The stock of goods was sold yesterday to George Schluter, Fred Broer, Henry Aufderheidie, W. H. Broer and Frederick Witker, for $4,200. Mr. Broer as been placed in charge and will run the store.

GOT HIS BURGLAR.

And Found Him to be His Landlord.

Gloucester, N. J., Aug. 30.—James Conroy, about 23 years old, living on Market street, this city, was shot and instantly killed by Alva Capewell, aged 24, the proprietor of a meat stand in front of Coyle's saloon at the Point.

Capewell claims that he had been recently robbed and that he armed himself last night and Conroy, who was unknown to him, broke into his place shortly after 1 o'clock this morning and he shot him.

Capewell is under arrest and the coroner will hold an investigation this afternoon.

London, Aug. 30.—Sir James Home Spiers, of Blackadder, in the county of Berwick, Scotland, late lieutenant of the first battalion of the Black Watch Royal Highlanders, and deputy lieutenant for the county of Berwick, was married to-day at St. George's, Hanover Square, to Miss Amy Green, daughter of the late William Arthur Green, of San Francisco.

RIOTERS FINED.

Fremont, O., Aug. 30.—(Special)—Three of the ring leaders in the Sunday fight have been captured by the police after a long pursuit. They were fined: Alexander McCasky, $20 and costs; D. J. Morris, $15 and costs; and Dan McBar, $15 and costs.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.

8th Mo., 29th, 1892.

A new poem by John G. Whittier, in honor of Dr. Holmes' 83rd birthday, appears in the Atlantic Monthly for September, from which the following verses are reprinted:

Among the thousands who with hail and cheer
Will welcome thy new year,
How few of all have passed, as thou and I,
So many milestones by!

We have grown old together; we have seen,
Our youth and age between,
Two generations leave us, and to-day
We with the third hold way.

* * * * * * *

The gift is thine the weary world to make
More cheerful for thy sake,
Soothing the ears its Miserere pains,
With the old Hellenic strains.

Lighting the sullen face of discontent
With smiles for blessings sent.
Enough of selfish wailing has been had,
Thank God! for notes more glad.

Life is indeed no holiday; therein
Are want, and woe, and sin.
Death and its nameless fears, and over all
Our pitying tears must fall.

Thy hand, old friend! The service of our days
In differing moods and ways,
May prove to those who follow in our train
Not valueless nor vain.

* * * * * * *

The hours draw near, howe'er delayed and late,
When at the Eternal Gate
We leave the words and works we call our own,
And lift void hands alone

For love to fill. Our nakedness of soul
Brings to that Gate no toll;
Giftless we come to Him, who all things gives,
And live because He lives.

OHIO SUPREME COURT.

Interesting Cases Taken Up for Settlement.

Columbus, Aug. 30.—The second national bank, of Ravenna vs. H. B. Dickinson, trustee and assignee of the Enterprise Egg company, reached the supreme court Monday from Portage county. The case company assigned July 4, 1892. There were due at that time $535.25 in the way of wages and $8.64 taxes, preferred claims. Two months prior to the assignment the bank took a chattel mortgage upon the property of the company and two days before the assignment took judgment on confession, levied the property, and it was sold at sheriff's sale for $1,200, though it is said to be worth $4,000. Dickenson served notice that he wanted the money or enough of it to pay his preferred claims. The bank refused. The courts below decided in favor of Dickinson.

John H. Kissell vs. Columbus Grove, a village in Putnam county, is the style af a case filed Monday morning in the supreme court. Under an act passed April 23, 1891, the village council was authorized to submit to the people a proposition to levy taxes to raise $25,000 to induce manufacturing industeries to locate there. The mayor issued his proclamation upon council's vote in favor of the proposition to levy taxes to raise $25,000 to induce manufacturing industries to locate there. The mayor issued his proclamation upon Council's vote in favor of the proposition and a special election was held June 22, 1891. It was carried by a vote of 325 to 18. Kissell objected, claiming that it was contrary to section 6, article 8, of the constitution; also that it was a special act. He secured an injunction which ws made He secured an injunction which was made court Kissell tried to show how much work his lawyer had done with a view to having his fees allowed, but the court refused to admit expert testimony in that point, and Kissell appeals to the supreme court on that one minor question alone, having won the original point in the case.

Bounce Bower is the proper thing to do.

A squire has just died in Aberdeen, Ky., who married, during his term of office, 5,000 couples. He was greatly beloved by the divorce lawyers.

Grand Master Sweeney thinks of going into newspaper work. He will conclude for himself and others, that the pencil and the ballot are mightier weapons than the rifle and the bayonet, in a free country.

Gov. McKinley told a big truth when he said, in his speech at Council Bluffs, "We have two classes of farmers, one that farms the land and the other that farms the farmers." Is wasn't necessary for him to add, behold one of the latter class before you.

The best work the New York Tribune has ever done is to collect a "fresh air fund" by means of which more than 14,000 children have been sent, thus far during the season, from the tenement districts into the country for a two weeks' holiday.

J. K. Newcomer and Dave Fisher have commenced the publication of the Daily Herald at Delaware. Two more able or better known democratic editors do not live in Ohio, and they will make their venture a herald of democracy and news to thousands of readers. Success to them.

The friends of Mrs. Maybrick do not purpose giving up their fight until the release of the prisoner is effected. Sir Charles Russell, now attorney general, who conducted Mrs. Maybrick's defense, has always expressed belief in her innocence. Gail Hamilton, a good and persistent fighter, is her champion in America. The conviction is growing, that the case was not fairly tried.

It is a matter of street remark that the republican city fathers, headed by Mayor Emmick, are very deliberate in the slowness with which they push the Bower investigation. When Billy Cook was in trouble Emmick had him locked up before the testimony against him was as strong as it is against Bower. But Mr. Bower is supposed to have a political pull which republican leaders are disposed to respect as long as possible.

Republicans seem quite gleeful because Senator Hill "made a pleasant social call on Gov. McKinley, at the seashore." Why shouldn't these gentlemen be friends? The same kind of politics, under diffeent conditions and with varying manifestations, were exploited at Minneapolis for the one and at Chicago for the other and with the like results. Senator and Governor are something, to be sure, but are not in it with a presidential nomination. McKinley was shrewder than Hill and his friends; he left a cover to flee to. Of course it is pleasant to chat over these things.

President Harrison went to Ophir farm to read his letter of acceptance to Whitelaw Reid. However fine its manipulation, and careful its utterances, Mr. Harrison will be judged by what he has done and is doing, rather than by any promises he may be able to make for the future. He is a self-confessed pledge breaker. In the face of his pious civil service reform declaration he assured his party later that he deeply regretted not being able to command more offices with which to reward his friends. He will be judged by his record, not his promises.

Here we have it again, that that wonderful tax law is responsible for good crops and for the shortage in Europe, which makes a demand for the American farmers' breadstuffs. The Chicago Inter-Ocean says:

> The people's party will at once put 100 speakers in the field in Kansas. But it is of no use. The corn is too high and the bins are too full of wheat. Kansas is one of the flourishing and prosperous states of the Union, and it will vote for the party that made it such.

One would need to learn the Welsh or the Russian language before he could aptly express his opinion of such gabble.

Senator Dawes will retire from office next March and refuse re-election. Mr. Dawes will be 76 years old October next and has been in public life the full measure of 44 years; first as a state officer, then serving nine terms in the house and in the senate since 1875 the successor of Charles Sumner. He has been an able and bitter partisan, and whatever of good or ill the spent years will record, would be neither added to nor modified by longer public effort. It is always pathetic, in a measure, to see a man retire from active life because of his accumulated years, but there are few Gladstones in the political field in any country.

The board of revision report serious findings against Street Commissioner Bower. They accuse him of dishonesty and Mayor Emmick makes affidavit that he believes Bower has defrauded the city out of from $1,500 to $2,000. The council has ordered an investigation. Bower declares his own innocence, though how he will explain away the evident crookedness does not appear. It is a bad mess, and following so closely upon the indictment of a number of councilmen discloses rottenness in city affairs that requires vigorous measures. Bower is not only reckless, extravagant and negligent in the performance of his official duties, but it looks very much as if he were corrupt. Mr. Bower is a republican reformer.

"THE WORKING PEOPLE."

The New York Mail and Express is trying to make for itself great notoriety by arranging for "work people's trains" to the Chicago fair. This same editorial man who marked his wealth or he would never have had any, spends most of his time attempting to separate the sheep from the goats, and the rich from the poor. Give the poor people low rates and a day to themselves, some time through the week, and save the sacred Sabbath for the nabobs, with passes, so they shall not be elbowed by the common rabble—that's the scriptural editor's idea, only partially expressed.

If labor receives its fair reward in this country, its share of the wealth it produces, there are no reasons why "workingmen and their families" should be herded together on cheap trains and carried to Chicago at charitable rates, on separate and distinct days. If Col. Shepard or any other millionaire recognizes the fact that he has got more of the country's wealth that belongs to him, he can assist some of the defrauded ones to go to the fair, without advertising it as a wonderful charity on his part.

THE NATIONAL DISGRACE.

The deviltry there is in politics makes it nearly impossible to get at actual statistical facts about any subject. The report of Commissioner Peck, of the New York labor bureau, is just now under fire. Mr. Peck is a badly disgruntled Hill democrat. His report is as good a campaign document as tariff advocates could desire. As it is manifestly and undeniably wrong in one or two glaring particulars, Mr. Peck was asked to show the documents, purported to be from manufacturers and tradesmen, from which his schedule was prepared and he flatly refused to permit any one to see them. He says he obtained the information from manufacturers on the promise that he would not give it away. Just why an employer who has raised the wages of his employes should refuse to have it known, is not explained. Senator Hill smiled, complacently, when he learned of the suspicion that was abroad, and of course, knew nothing about the official business of his man Peck.

Except the public conscience can be quickened, or penalty for false returns be somehow applied, the people of the country might about as well give over the attempt to have statistics gathered. Mr. Porter's census is strongly suspicioned, and with cause, trade schedules are made purposely misleading, as individual testimonies prove. Whatever outrage can be perpetrated in the name of campaign politics, goes. These are ugly facts. What is the cause and what the cure for such laxity of conscience on the part of public officers?

BRIEF BUT BUSINESS.

Yesterday's Session of the Gas Trustees.

Mr. Coghlin Refuses to Appear Before the Board in the Buckeye Brewing Case and the Matter is Referred.

The gas trustees held a brief session yesterday afternoon with the three reliables—Voit, Romeis and Barber present.

The principal subject before the meeting was to have been the alleged illegal use of city gas by the Buckeye Brewing company. Mr. D. Coghling, president of the company, refused to obey a summons to appear before the board and the matter was referred to the city solicitor.

Manager Heston, in a communication to the board relative to the Buckeye Brewing company's case, said:

On August 22, 1892, the manager directed Mr. L. W. Garvin, foreman, to see if the Buckeye Brewing company was using city gas; if so, to take out the gate and plug the pipe, and to report what he found and did. He reports that they found the fourth gate valve, on Bush street, open and locked with a city lock, and the above mentioned company using gas under three boilers; and that he was standing near the boilers when the gas was turned off and saw the fires go out. He was unable to find how long they had been burning the gas, although he inquired of the engineer, Charles Lance. The connecting line was thereupon cut off and plugged, and the fourth gate valve returned to the storeroom. John Dimmer and James Ash, fitters, also sign the report.

"The Buckeye Brewing company have no contract with the natural gas department for the use of gas. At the time the Bush street line was laid a connection was made, October 24, 1891, and said brewery used gas, as agreed upon with the natural gas trustees, from October 27 to November 16, 1891, at which date gas was discontinued to the brewery. As gas was turned off soon after the connection was made, the company had not entered into a formal contract, although requested to do so. In the twenty days above named, in which they used gas, they reported the manufacture of 3,826 barrels of beer, for which they paid at the rate of 9 cents per barrel, net. This would be equivalent to a monthly rate, on such output, of $459.09. If gas has been used by said brewing company for five and two-thirds months, or since the last report on file (March 3, 1892), said brewing company should pay this department $3,601.81. If, however, the board assume that gas has been used by said company since November 16, 1891, or for a period of nine and one-sixth months, the amount due would be $4,208.32.

"This gate valve was shut and locked; it was found open and locked, Aug. 22, 1892, as above reported."

Mr. Groenwalk, representing a Pittsburg gas pumping concern, was present and wanted to know if the board was prepared to talk pumps.

President Voit answered not now, but probably would in a month or two.

In replies to some queries Mr. Groenwalk said he believed one pump would be sufficient at present, but if the pressure continues to diminish two, he thought, would be necessary.

An ex-employe named Spittler appeared before the board and wanted to know why he had been discharged.

After some discussion, he was asked to meet with the committee on city plant next Monday afternoon.

The application of the school board for gas was considered and it was decided to supply the schools in the best manner possible.

SEPTEMBER MAGAZINES.

The Isle of Jersey, sketched and pictured, is the opening paper in the Cosmopolitan. It is an exceedingly pleasing paper and the illustrations are fitting accompaniment. Duncan Campbell Scott contributes a graceful and musical sonnet, "September." An appreciative sketch of the modest and strong writer, "George Pellew," by W. D. Howells, with sonnets from Pellew, is something lovers of good prose and verse will be thankful for. The three sonnets quoted illustrate the master hand and mind. Walter Crane is happy in the illustrations, barring a head on the Greek, where the poem says, "Headless, without an arm, etc. One of the red letter papers of the number is "Advance of Education in the South," by Charles W. Dabney, jr., president of the University of Tennessee. The University of Virginia, where Gen. Robert Lee finished his life work, devoting himself to training young to do their duty in life, as he said; the School of Technology, the University of Texas; the Miller Manual Labor School, at Albermarle (Virginia); the Alabama Polytechnic Institute; the Vanderbilt University, and the University of Tennessee are among the many notable schools of the south that are written about. It is a comprehensive and readable paper. Up the Ouachita on a Cotton Boat, by Stoughton Cooley, Amma San, a story of Americans in Japan, by Anna A. Rogers; Celebrated British Spectres, by Esther Singleton. The Homestead Object Lesson, by one of the editors, John Brisbane Walker, Alligator Hunting with the Seminoles; the Chicago Convention, reviewed by Murat Halstead; Social Struggles, by Charles Howard Johnson, and Where the Shoe Pinches (a study of feet and shoes) by Avard J. Moore, are some of the other leading articles, all of which form a delightful variety. It is a prime good number.

Two Tales—His Creed and His Deed, by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, and An Odd Genius, by Belle C. Greene—is one of the best issues of this unique story publication. It is number 25 of volume 11, date August 27.

TEMPERANCE RALLY

At Memorial Hall Last Evening.

Mr. Pinney Orated and the Delta Glee Club Furnished Beautiful Music.

An audience that made up in intelligence and enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers, assembled at Memorial hall last night and listened to a very clear and comprehensive exposition of the principles of the prohibition platform, as understood by Mr. E. D. Pinney, of Cleveland, and to excellent music rendered by the Delta Glee club.

At 8:15 Chairman Leet called the meeting to order and stated that the speaker had not yet arrived, and it was feared he had been delayed, but they would wait a few minutes longer, and the audience would be entertained by selections from the Delta Glee club.

Before they had finished the song service Mr. Pinney arrived, and expressed surprise that his friends had feared he would not come. He never disappointed an audience in his life, but had frequently been disappointed himself by the lack of one. This, he explained, was no reflection on his present audience.

He began his address on "The Political Issues of the Day" by saying that four political parties have each formulated a platform, and ask your support of it. You have a right and a duty to inquire, "Why do you ask for my support? What principles do you propose to adopt? What do you propose to do for me?"

After talking on this line for a few minutes, and remarking that men should have some better reason for voting for Grover Cleveland or Benjamin Harrison, than because their grandfathers voted for General Jackson and Abraham Lincoln, Mr. Pinney took up the question of the character of the prohibition candidate for the presidency, General Bidwell, reading extracts from California democratic and republican papers, speaking in the highest terms of his benevolence and moral character.

He next took up the prohibition platform, plank by plank, and his comments elicited hearty applause, especially the one reading "No individual shall be denied the right to vote on account of sex," there being a large number of women present.

The gentleman scored both democratic and republican parties for the planks referring to education and public schools, and said the plank in the republican platform was the worst "straddle" he ever saw, made to read backwards and forwards and in the middle, for the use of their stump speakers in any community—a shameless bid for votes.

"The 13,000 saloons in Ohio are barring school-room doors against 50,000 school children in Ohio."

The gentleman took up the labor problem, saying that it was largely a matter of wages. He would solve it by restricting immigration and closing the saloons.

Mr. Pinney is an entertaining speaker and held the attention and interest of his audience to the close of his somewhat lengthy address.

The temperance people feel well satisfied with the success of the meeting and will hold another in the near future.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Holds a Session and Transacts Important Business.

The Janitor Will Get More Pay—Teachers Appointed — Another Year Added to the Course—Other Business.

The board of education met last evening and transacted business in a most peaceable and quiet manner.

The resignations of the janitors of the Sherman and Lagrange schools were submitted and accepted.

The building committee report estimates allowed on the various buildings under construction amounting to $7,365. Approved.

The board then made Mr. Eversman happy by passing favorably upon a schedule increase of the janitor's pay. The following is the list as approved, showing the salary per month as increased:

Henry Deyman, Central, $83; William Creighton, Erie, $20.75; Mrs. Darnauer, Lagrange, $15.75; H. Jennson, Stickney, $20.75; Mrs. H. Bente, Sherman, $20.75; Mrs. Upham, Jefferson, $20.75; Mrs. Sweeney, Washington, $20.75; Mrs. Murphy, Illinois, $15.75; P. Hendricks, Nebraska, $33; Mrs. Libkie, South, $15.75; W. R. Cook, East Toledo, $20.75; Mrs. Kissling, Broadway, $20.75; Mrs. Tobin, Warren, $20.75; Mrs. L. Kruse, St. Clair, $18; Mrs. Dunkert, Segur, $20.75; D. W. A motion prevailed to allow Miss King, librarian, $50 for the month of July, which time she was sick and unable to attend to her duties.

A number of builders' bonds were referred to the finance committee with power to act.

Mr. Trost, chairman of the fuel committee reported a bid from the city, for supplying gas for another year, but that no bid had yet been received from the Northwestern, agents of which company had stated that a bid would be forthcoming as soon as the city council had taken some action fixing the price of gas. The committee asked the further indulgence of the board, which was granted.

Mr. Schuck moved that the Smead system be accepted for the East Toledo school. Mr. Kohn moved an amendment that Mr. Smead's offer to donate the system be accepted. Mr. Schlingman seconded. Several members protested, stating that such proceedings would not be business and that the board could not afford to vote to accept a gift from Mr. Smead. If he offered it after the board had voted to buy his system, well and good.

Mr. Kohn's amendment failed to carry. He then moved a second amendment that the Smead system be adopted, providing it could be purchased as cheap as the Bennet & Peck system at $870. There was no second to this amendment. The original question was then voted upon and adopted.

The supply committee reported the following choice from bids submitted for the furnishing of supplies for the year:

Pens—604 and 404, 48 and 39 cents, F. R. Frey & Co.

Trest Drawing Pencils—Equally divided between Eagle and Dixon brand half; half Brown, Eager & Hull, $2.70; one-half Dixon to Blade Printing & Paper company, $2.50.

Writing Pencils—Dixon Metropolitan, Blade Printing & Paper company, at $1.50 gross.

Slate Pencils—Eagle 947, F. R. Frey & Co., $8.50 gross; American 497, F. R. Frey & Co., $8.25 gross.

Writing Paper—Legal Cap Spencerian, half Frey & Co., half to Blade Printing & Paper company, $1.96 ream, Spencerian, $2.16.

Prang Education company, 10 cents per large package, 5 cents small package.

The committee appointed to alter the course of study in the High school as to conform with the requirements set forth by colleges as to preparation, submitted the following report which was adopted:

To the Board of Education:

Gentlemen: Your committee respectfully recommends that the study in the High school be amended to include one year of additional work for those preparing for college, or wishing a more extended course than is offered at present. This course is appended to this report and is recommended by the superintendent of schools, and principal of High school, as all that is necessary. This will involve no additional teaching force, or cause any extra expense. The committee also recommend that the High school text book, psychology, be changed from Hills' to Baldwin's psychology, the change involving only about twenty-five copies.

Respectfully,
F. W. Eversman,
H. A. Schlingman,
Committee.

TO HEAR GEN. BLACK.

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 30.—Every old soldier in Freeport and Stephenson counties who is able to bear the journey is in this city today to attend the annual reunion, which is being held at Taylor's Park. The annual address will be delivered by Gen. John C. Black. A grand camp-fire will be held this evening at the opera house, and short speeches will be made by Gen. Black, Capt. Edwin A. Harland, J. A. Burst, Horace S. Clark, and Postmaster James A. Sexton, of Chicago. The reunion is the largest ever held in northern Illinois.

BOARD OF COUNCIL.

The Natural Gas Rates Again Under Discussion,

But Action is Postponed—A Long Session and the Business Not Finished.

The board of councilmen were slow in getting together last evening, and it was 9 o'clock before President Coleman's gavel called the board to order. A number of members had considerable talking to do on minor matters and the business was dragged out to a tiresome length.

Among the new business introduced was resolutions directing the street commissioner to purchase 600 feet of hose to be used in flushing streets and sewers and resolutions for artesian wells at the corner of Nebraska and Detroit avenues and the corner of Lenk and Missouri streets. These resolutions were adopted, but as the auditor stated that there are no funds available for either purpose they are not of much value.

Mr. Walker also presented a resolution directing the street commissioner to at once comply with the request of the board of health to clean up the city. This was adopted.

A resolution from Mr. Neuendorf was adopted, directing the Consolidated to run street cars on Bancroft street between Lagrange and Elm or forfeit their franchise.

A resolution to pave Clayton street, from St. Clair to Morris, presented by Mr. Doner, was referred to the street committee.

On motion of Mr. Schmitt the resolution to pave Speilbusch avenue from Beech street to Oak street, was taken from the table and adopted.

From the committee on railroads an ordinance was passed granting to the Robison street railway the right to construct an extension of its tracks on Hoag street and Junction avenue.

Ordinances were also passed to pave George street; to grade Utah street; to improve Franklin street; to turnpike Michigan street, and to grade Yondota street.

Resolutions were adopted to pave Wisconsin street and Park Place.

The Gas Question.

On motion of Mr. Osborne the board recommended the vote by which the ordinance was lost, fixing the price of Northwestern natural gas at 20 cents per thousand.

When the matter was thus brought before the board Attorney C. T. Lewis, representing the Northwestern company, was given permission to speak and at some length he reviewed the gas situation and requested on behalf of his clients that the rate be fixed at 20 cents and that the contract be made for one year, instead of four as provided in the ordinance.

When Mr. Lewis finished the matter was laid over for two weeks, the motion being made by Mr. Doner.

The board then took up the report of the board of revision, an account of which appears in another column of the Bee. As it was late when this was finished the board recessed until next Thursday evening when they will take up the business from the board of aldermen.

CHARGES SUSTAINED

Against the Street Commissioner, Henry Bower.

Report of the Board of Revision.

It Was No Whitewash and Serious Charges Were Made—Action of the Council.

At the meeting of the councilmen last evening the board of revision through City Solicitor Read, submitted its report and recommendations on the investigation of Street Commissioner Henry Bower. As is well known to the readers of the Bee, the evidence against Mr. Bower was strong and showed some very peculiar and irregular methods of doing business. The report of the board of revision, however, was something of a surprise, as it condemned him in even stronger terms than was expected and recommended that the council take immediate action against the street commissioner, part of which recommendation the council acted upon at once.

The report includes a copy of the affidavit made by Edward Kirkham, which brought out the investigation and then goes further to say that the charges were sustained and finds that Mr. Bower has fraudulently obtained from the city, money to an amount between $1,500 and $2,000.

The report is as follows:

Report of the Board of Revision.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Toledo:

Gentlemen: The board of revision of the city of Toledo have had presented to them the following charges and complaint against Henry Bower, street commissioner:

State of Ohio, County of Lucas, ss.

Know all men by these presents that I, Edward Kirkham, hereby make oath that while I was acting in the capacity of foreman for Street Commissioner Henry Bower in the year 1890 from the commencement or said Bower's term of office to the expiration of the same in 1892, I was compelled by said Bower to carry on my time book the names of John Lentner at 30c per hour and James Kelly at 12 1-2c per hour, neither of whom did a day's work under me in all that time during which I was one of Mr. Bower's foremen.

When I objected to placing these men on my "time book" Mr. Bower said I did not carry as many men on my roll as the rest of the foremen and these names would not be noticed. I objected to this, but Mr. Bower insisted and I finally placed the names on my time book. The amount of money drawn from the city treasury amounts in the case of James Lentner to $1,269 up to and including January 18, 1892, and James Kelly $610.25.

In April, 1892, shortly after Mr. Bower commenced his second term of office, he directed me to drop these names from my time roll.

These time checks were collected from me every week by the street commissioner himself. The records of the City Auditor show that they with numerous other checks were cashed by the Buckeye Brewery company who receipted for them at the city auditor's office.

(Signed) EDWARD KIRKHAM.

Sworn to and subscribed in my presence this 16th day of July, 1892.

(Signed) H. C. NICHOLAS.
(Seal). Notary Public, Lucas County.

The board immediately entered upon a thorough investigation of the charges, examining many witnesses and considering the evidence at length. Mr. Bower was present during the examination and was represented by counsel. He also made a statement under oath to the board.

The board of revision, after due consideration of the evidence, find,

First—That the charges as made are sustained.

Second—That Henry Bower has dishonestly conducted the office of street commissioner by issuing fraudulent vouchers for work alleged to have been done when in fact no work was done for which time checks were issued, some of said vouchers being issued in the name of John Lentner when said Lentner was not employed and others in the name of James Kelly when said Kelly was not employed and after he had been dead several months. That both John Lentner and James Kelly were kept upon the pay roll during most of the time in which Mr. Bower was street commissioner, although they worked only a very small portion of such time. That the exact amount of money thus fraudulently taken from the treasury, we have not been able to ascertain from our investigation but in our opinion it is between $1,500 and $2,000.

The board of revision recommends that an investigation be had by the common council of the charges, and that if the same are sustained by your honorable body that said Henry Bower be removed from office.

We further recommend that if such an investigation be not at once instituted by the common council that impeachment proceedings be instituted in the probate court of Lucas county and we urge that a sufficient number of public spirited citizens take the necessary steps for such action.

Respectfully submitted,
V. J. EMMICK,
FRANK COLEMAN,
W. H. A. READ.

Toledo, Aug. 23, 1892.

The following statement from Mayor Emmick was also included in the papers:

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Toledo.

I hereby make and request your careful attention to the following charges against Henry Bower, street commissioner of the City of Toledo. In accordance with the requirements of Sec. 161 of the revised ordinances of the City of Toledo, I present the same in the form of an affidavit.

Respectfully submitted,
V. J. EMMICK, Mayor.

Toledo, O., Aug. 29, 1892.

State of Ohio, County of Lucas, ss.

V. J. Emmick, being by me first duly sworn, deposes and says that Henry Bower is street commissioner of the City of Toledo and has been acting as such since the 15th day of April, 1890; that during all of the time since that date up to and including the month of April, 1892, said Henry Bower required one of his foremen and timekeepers to carry upon his time book and report as working for the City of Toledo two men, to-wit, James Kelly and John Lentner, and to report each week certain time and give vouchers therefor, which vouchers were duly cashed by the disbursing officer of the City of Toledo, when neither of said men were working or entitled to moneys from the City of Toledo. That said money was not paid to said men or either of them, but collected through other agencies by said Henry Bower.

That by reason of said false vouchers there has been fraudulently drawn from the treasury of the city from $1,500 to $2,000. V. J. EMMICK.

Sworn to before me and in my presence subscribed this 29th day of August, A. D. 1892. W. H. H. READ.

The report was placed on file and the following resolution, also from the board of revision, was presented and read:

"Resolved, That the city solicitor be and he is hereby directed to at once institute proceedings in a court of competent jurisdiction, against Henry Bower, street commissioner, for the recovery of the moneys fraudulently taken from the treasury of the city of Toledo by the said Bower when acting as street commissioner."

This resolution, however, was lost by a vote of 6 to 8, as a number of the councilmen favored waiting until the case against Mr. Bower was concluded before suit was commenced to recover the money.

Another resolution, as follows, was then introduced and adopted:

"Whereas, In the opinion of a majority of the members of the common council of the city of Toledo, the charges filed upon the 29th day of August, 1892, by his honor, the mayor of the city of Toledo, against Henry Bower, street commissioner, are proper to be tried. Therefore, be it

"Resolved, by the common council of the city of Toledo, that said charges be investigated by the common council in joint session, and the said trial take place in the council chamber, commencing on the evening of Wednesday, the 14th day of September, 1892, at 7:30 o'clock, and that the proper papers be issued and served according to the requirements of law."

This finished the action of the council in the matter for the present, and if the board of aldermen also adopt the last resolution the trial will be had at the time stated.

Mr. Bower was not present at the meeting of the board last evening, but a number of his friends were, and Attorney J. H. Southard was on hand to look out for his interests.

RECEIVER APPOINTED.

Amos Dennison Will Conduct the Iron Hall Business.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 30.—Amos Dennison, Esq., has been appointed receiver for the Order of the Iron Hall. The appointment was made at 11 o'clock on Monday morning by Judge Hamilton in court room No. 1. There were but few persons present aside from the lawyers interested in the case. The attorneys had nothing to say. Judge Hamilton, in making the appointment, reviewed the case upon the statements that had been presented in the pleadings. He stated that he believed that the court did not have jurisdiction over the funds belonging to the order out of this county, and that the authority of the receiver would therefore be confined to Cuyahoga county. He fixed Mr. Dennison's bond at $50,000.

A General Alteration of Prices.

FOREWARNED—FOREARMED.

The daily increasing sales of the "Misfit" could have but one outcom: It pointed as the finger of destiny, that we would be compelled to enlarge our quarters. The present rooms would be entirely inadequate to accommodate the trade for Fall. The carpenters, painters and paper-hangers will start in this week to fit up our basement, making it as convenient, comfortable and tasty as our present parlors. A grand staircase will lead to the same. It will be well lighted with electricity and will be stocked with only nobby, artistic and durable garments. Only what is turned out by the finest merchant tailors in the land and sold at one-half the original measured prices. The sawing and cutting by the workmen will be suggestive to make it lively all along the line. We will do a little cutting ourselves, just to be in it.

In Michigan it is unlawful for railway companies to neglect to block the frogs on their roads ,so that the feet of the employes may not be caught therein. A switchman, while uncoupling cars, had his feet caught in an unblocked frog and was injured. He sued for damages, and proved that other frogs in the yard were unblocked and that the yardmaster had been notified of their condition. The court decided that it was no defense that the company had employed men to keep all frogs blocked and that proper material had been furnished for that purpose, because the negligence of the employes was the negligence of the company.

Mrs. Ayres, the wealthy New York widow, has had her portrait painted by Carolus Duran, and the probabilities are that Mrs. Ayres now regrets it very much. The lady is seated on a sort of throne, covered with antique tapestry. She is robed in heavy velvet of an indescribable hue and a heavy purple mantel, bordered with Russian sable, falls from her shoulders. Velvet shoes are on her feet and the artist's love of color is further illustrated by the revealing of a bright red pair of stockings. The English papers allude to the picture of "Queen Croesus," and criticise Duran for representing the estimable Mrs. Ayres in this fashion and missing all her sweet and womanly characteristics.

The recent capsizing of a vessel tied up to a pier in Brooklyn is sufficiently unusual in that port to excite comment, but it is common enough in ports along the Bay of Fundy and its tributary streams. The usual rise and fall of the tide along that bay is from 40 to 50 feet, and high tides sometimes exceed 60 feet. With the fall of the tide all craft are left high, with an area of chocolate- colored mud all about them. This mud is too shifting to hold a vessel in safety, so each pier is provided with one or more strong wooden frames, called shoes, fixed at the bottom of the stream or bay. Upon these shoes all vessels rest at low tide. It frequently happens, however, that a vessel does not get her shoes snugly on, so to speak, and if a strong wind comes when she is thus ill-balanced, over she goes into the mud, to be buried forty feet under the next rising tide.

Moonlit waves,
Brighton's sands,
Dude and maiden
Holding hands;
Vows of love,
Caresses sweet,
Dude pops question
At her feet.
To the store,
Dude goes away,
Girl forgets him
The next day.
Another dude
Drops in at Brighton,

The summer girl met a howling swell
One day by the roaring sea;
While she appeared as an heiress-belle
Like a titled lord looked he.
They parted then, but again they met,
Far, far from the wave-washed shore;
And he at a case "fat takes" did set,
While she yelled "cash" in a store.

"THAT REMINDS ME."

A Joke That Resulted From the Force of Circumstances.

It is a well-known fact that human nature doesn't like to be laughed at, so I'll just tell you, as a friend, a little joke that was played on me by "force of circumstances"—if you'll promise not to print it. It happened on Long Island. I was down there woodcock shooting many moons ago, and on the evening preceding my intended departure I was urged to get up before daylight next morning to shoot a black duck or two to carry home. I strongly protested against it, as it was the last day of September and the law was supposed to protect them till the first of October. However, I stifled my conscience in the face of such a temptation as they held out (assuring me that they had been shooting them for two or three weeks) and slipped off quietly before the break of day to a small pond in the woods. I was covered all over with a guilty feeling, but "stood my ground," and with the first streak of dawn I saw a reconnoitering party sailing over and one of them tumbled suddenly into the huckleberry bushes not 40 feet away.

I waited in the frosty air till daylight, and as no more came I went to where I marked my victim down, and after parting the thick bushes and hunting carefully for some time I found him and hastily stuck him into my big coat pocket, imagining a game warden watching me from behind each tree. I hurried back to the hotel, and as it was nearly train time I ran to my room, opened my valise and jammed the duck in without even looking at him, and got on the cars with about as guilty a feeling as a high-minded honorable sportsman ever walked off with.

After getting home and sitting in my warm and cozy room an hour or two I rang for the servant—an Irish lady—and told her to get that duck out of my valise and cook it for my dinner.

She opened the valise, dragged out the duck, and then with an ejaculatory sound that usually indicates a nasty smell, threw down the duck and rushed out of the room as if she suspected a trick.

But I protest, even to this day, that I was fraudulent of any such intention. It was merely a mistake.

I had hastily pocketed a duck that some other fellow had shot, and lost, at least a week before. It was a cold morning and the duck was stiff, but I stupidly overlooked that fact in my haste to put it out of sight of the game wardens; and it gave out no odor to indicate its condition till it got comfortably warmed up in my room.

I have always thought it best to respect the game laws, and I mean to do it.—Forest and Stream.

A woman walking in St. John's Wood, London, saw on the walk a small snake wearing around its neck a ring studded with gems, to which was fastened a slender gold chain that had another jeweled ring at its end. She was startled at first, but she afterwards recognized the bediamoned reptile as Sarah Bernhardt's favorite stage snake, and restored it to the tragedienne.

CONNUBIALITIES.

It is said that one in every ten of the working women support their husbands.

It is altogether useless to try to talk politics to the man who was married only a week ago.

"The bride's father gave her away, did he not?" "More than that. He threw in $150,000 to boot."

Short wedding tours are the fashion now—as they have always been with the people who can't afford long ones.

When the octogenarian falls in love it is always easy for him to devise plenty of reasons why a young girl of 20 should want to marry him.

A Baltimore bachelor refuses to marry because he "considers young married women the most ill-behaved creatures in existence." Who gave the secret away?

Terwilliger—Miss Playne doesn't like you, old fellow. She says you're a conceited popinjay. Jerolomon—The reason Miss Playne doesn't like me is because I am not a poppin' jay.

"What on earth got into the organist at Ethel's wedding? He played a funeral march as the bride and groom walked down the aisle." "He was one of Ethel's list of rejected."

Mrs. Bingley—How is your daughter getting along with her new music teacher? Mrs. Pinkerly—Splendidly. She has only known him three weeks and he has already proposed three times.

It was rather hard on the enterprising American who married 13 times in Zacatecas, Mex., to have the governor spring an old law on him which forbids any man to marry more than nine times.

The fact that "of the 328,000 divorces granted in the United States during the last 20 years 316,000 were granted at the request of wives," proves conclusively that a man is much more open to conviction than a woman.—Omaha Bee.

VOLCANIC ERUPTIONS AT SEA.

Strange Spectacle of a Great Fish Playing in Troubled Waters.

Last year there was a strange occurrence near the Island of Pantellaria, between Sicily and Tunis, which would have filled the imagination of a Homer or a Virgil with pictures of the supernatural monsters and poetical fancies about the extravagant doings of the deities of the sea.

A submarine volcanic eruption occurred there, and the inhabitants of the island saw what seemed like some great fish disporting himself in the troubled water, while columes of smoke arose around him.

Those who ventured near to the scene in boats saw hot volcanic bombs, composed of black scoriaceous material, rising to the top of the water and there running and darting about in the most singular fashion, under the impulse of the steam which they discharged. Some bounded more than 60 feet up into the air as the steam exploded.

Some outbursts of heated matter from the bed of the sea furnish, perhaps, an even more impressive indication than ordinary volcanic eruptions do of the strange conditions prevailing at no great depth beneath the surface of the earth.—Pearson's Weekly.

It appears that a colored or dark pigment in the olfactory regions is essential to perfect smell. In cases where animals are pure white they are usually totally devoid of both smell and taste; and some, the white cat for an instance, are almost invariably deaf.

A BIG OPENING.

The Wonderland Theater and What It Contains.

A Short Sketch of the Manager, Bert Davis—The Stage Performance Was of a High Order.

Mayor Emmick, City Solicitor Read, Police Clerk Leibius, Judge Sala, Councilmen Osborn and Hodge occupied a box at the Wonderland theater opening yesterday afternoon.

There were some 700 other people present also, and to say they enjoyed the performance would be putting it very mild. All were profuse with their praise, and the entertainment, and in fact the whole establishment, merited it.

The menagerie held a large collection, the Eden Musee was found to be equal to like exhibitions in other cities and the curio hall held many things that were entertaining.

Prof. Nero modeled in clay, making faces almost human, changing their whole expression with a sweep of the hand.

Prof. Wallace gave an exhibition of silk making, and the gypsy orchestra played some artistic selections.

The performance in the cosy little theater was witnessed by some several hundred ladies and gentlemen. Some of the best known people in Toledo were present.

A handsome Japanese lady, Oume, gave a clever performance of tricks in connection with Cendo's marvelous juggling.

Little Jennie Quigley sang a number of songs. She was the prima donna of the Royal Liliputian Opera company and has a well-trained voice and excellent stage presence. She is only 37 inches in height.

George C. Davis, the comedian, gave impersonations of John T. Raymond, Henry Irving, Stuart Robeson and other well-known actors.

La Petit Freddy, a 12-year-old youngster, captured the ladies and the men also for that matter, with his songs in various languages and his dances.

Burns & Binns, musical artists from Tony Pastor's New York Theater, closed the performance, which was first-class throughout.

Bert Davis, who comes to Toledo as manager of the Wonderland, began his career as a newspaper man, having worked on the Elmira Telegram, St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Kansas City News and New York World. Equipped with the wide experience gained in this way he started out as an advance agent. He went in front of Carver's Wild West show, with whom he traveled for one season. He then went with Haverly's American-European minstrels the next season, after which he was engaged by the Wilson & Rankin minstrel combination, with whom he staid five years. By this time he was recognized as one of the best press agents in the business. He was secured by the Barnum & Bailey's circus, who are noted for having the best press agents in the country. After one season with them, during which he did some excellent work, he left to go with L. J. Carter's Fast Mail company. The managers of the Barnum-Bailey circus are lavish in their praise of Mr. Davis' ability. Mr. Bailey is authority for the statement that Davis was the only press agent who ever got editorial notices in the leading papers of the country. It was Mr. Davis who took P. T. Barnum around the hippodrome of the circus at Kansas City the last time he ever saw his own circus.

One of the interesting events of Mr. Davis' life was a performance given at Washington for Baby McKee's benefit. Those present were Mrs. McKee, mother of Baby, Mrs. Harrison and Elijah W. Halford, private secretary of President Harrison. This was the smallest audience that ever attended Barnum's circus at any time. Bert rode Baby McKee around the track, much to the delight of that much-advertised youngster.

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

De Mores Must Answer to the Courts.

He Killed a Man in a Duel, Which Was Not the Proper Caper.

Paris, Aug. 30.—The Marquis De Mores is on trial on the charge of manslaughter in having killed Captain Meyer, of the French army last June by running him through the right lung with a sword in a duel, owing to Meyer's resentment of De Mores insults to Hebrews.

The marquis, son of the Duke De Vallomorsa, was trained for the French army at St. Cyr, but soon threw up his profession and went to New York. There he married the daughter of a rich German banker and set out for Dakota.

He built a hotel, a villa and a couple of large abattoirs and proposed to supply the eastern markets with dressed beef. The scheme soon came to grief. He is said to have been shot at eighteen times in a very few months and during all that time he was robbed right and left, the cattle thieves rebranding his own steers and selling them to him over and over again.

Although unfit to run a ranch he was a splendid shot, a tried sportsman and a glutton for adventure. His wife stuck by him during all these stormy scenes, but was heartily glad when he turned his back on Dakota and returned to Europe.

In Paris the marquis developed into a pronounced socialist and anti-semite, and became associated with Drumont, of the Libre Parole, who printed an article attacking the Hebrew officers in the French army. Drumont was challenged by one of them, Capt. Cremieu Foa. In the duel that was fought Drumont was wounded in the face. De Mores was one of Drumont's seconds. Capt. Meyer also took up the charge made by Drumont, and the Marquis De Mores, who expressed full sympathy with Drumont's utterances, met Capt. Meyer in the field with the fatal result stated.

At the hearing the four seconds present at the duel, were arraigned on the charge of complicity. De Mores in a speech which lasted 30 minutes, related his life in America and Tonquin. When the Duc De Orleans was Lord Dufferin's guest in India the Marquis De Mores was of his party. He has been a close friend of the Comte de Paris, in spite of his anarchistical views. Personally he is a strikingly handsome man, tall and dark, with restless black eyes and a peculiar fascination for women.

Why the Baby Stopped Crying.

"My baby was cross and fretful and cried a great deal," writes Mrs. J. E. Churchill, of Lawrence, Mass., "but when I fed him lactated food, he grew quiet and happy, and sleeps a great deal. My little girl, now five years old, was reared on the food, which is the best thing a baby can have."

CREIGHTON ON TRIAL.

Sensation In a Nebraska Seminary.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 30.—The trial of Chancellor Creighton of the Methodist Seminary in this city, who has been accused of a multitude of offenses by a faction of the church that has long been opposed to him, will begin this afternoon.

The trial will be presided over by Rev. L. E. Britt, of Nebraska City, the chancellor having appealed to the bishop to select an outsider to conduct the proceedings instead of the presiding elder of the district, Rev. Asa Sleeth, who, it was alleged, was in sympathy with the prosecution.

The charges are very serious, and some of Creighton's accusers go so far as to connect his name with a murder that took place in Ohio nearly a score of years ago. The feeling on both sides is naturally very intense, and if the chancellor is deprived of his position there is likely to be a split in the local ranks of the church.

STRIKING SWITCHMEN.

More Blood Shed, This Time in New Orleans.

New Men Fired on by the Strikers on the Queen & Crescent.

New Orleans, Aug. 30.—A strike has been in progress here for some days by the switchmen of the New Orleans & Northwestern railroad, a part of the Queen & Crescent system, growing out of the objection of the men to the yardmaster, who was from St. Louis.

The men left work and the yardmaster telegraphed to St. Louis for switchmen to take their places. A party of 71 men arrived at 9 o'clock last night from St. Louis and went to work at once.

At 11:15 the men were seated around the yard talking when four of them in a group were suddenly fired upon and all four fell badly wounded. As far as could be made out there were a dozen men in the attacking party.

One of the wounded men had strength enough left to draw his revolver and fire, bringing down one of their assailants.

The other switchmen rushed up to the assistance of their wounded brethren and the strikers fled. George Sprague, of the switchmen, was fatally wounded, and will live only a few hours, and W. R. Smith, W. R. Maples and J. F. Jones are seriously and perhaps fatally wounded. James Sexton, of the strikers, is also fatally hurt.

MRS. RUSSELL'S CASE.

It is Before Wisconsin's Supreme Court.

She Is Charged With the Murder of Her Servant Girl, Bertha Erickson.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 30.—The case of Mrs. Russell, who was recently convicted of the murder of Bertha Erickson, her servant girl, is on the docket of the supreme court to-day.

Mrs. Russell is the wife of a well-to-do lumber merchant, and has always moved in the best society.

During the trial her name was connected with that of a handsome young Swede, who had formerly been attached to Miss Erickson, but who, it was alleged, had transferred his affections to Mrs. Russell.

The points upon which the appeal for a new trial are based involve three questions: First, whether the appointment of W. W. Erwin, a lawyer from another state, was an error; second, whether the alleged gross partiality of the district attorney and the alleged instigation by him of the publication of an inflammatory article invalidated the verdict; and third, whether it is not also invalidated by the district attorney's alleged action in representing himself by telephone to the prisoner as her attorney while she was in jail, and thus obtaining from her private information prejudicial to her defense.

DEATH FOR "TAL" HALL

No Escape for the Mountain Murderer.

The Guards Have Orders to Shoot Him If Any Attempt at Rescue Is Made.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 30.—Talton Hall, the murderer of 99 men, will die Friday, either on the scaffold or at the hands of his guards, who have orders to shoot him down in case of an attack on the jail with the object of rescuing him, which his friends in Kentucky may make.

One hundred men, armed with Winchesters, are on guard at Wise Court House, Virginia, 50 having gone there yesterday.

A strong picket line extends around the village and excitement is at fever heat.

SOUTHERN PROHIBS.

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 30.—Primary elections are being held throughout the state to-day on the prohibition issue. The interest in the movement has been intensified by a paragraph which recently appeared in the Charleston Zeitung to the effect that Gov. Tillman had promised that if the German barkeepers would vote for Elexander Melchers the reform candidate for sheriff, he, the governor, would use his influence in the next legislature against prohibition or high license. A full vote will be polled to-day and the opposing interests are so evenly matched that the result is likely to be in doubt until the last vote is counted.

ASSESSMENTS ANNULLED.

Indianapolis, Aug. 30.—Judge Taylor has issued an order releasing all members of the order of the Iron Hall from paying assessments Nos. 179 and 180, levied since the receivership was brought, provided assessment No. 178, due when the suit was brought, has been paid. All who pay up assessments by October 1, and who send in their reserve fund to the receiver, will share in all the dividends.

FIRE LADDIES.

They Will Have a Time in Illinois.

The Annual Tournament Now in Session in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 30.—The annual tournament of the State Firemen's association opened here to-day with an attendance of over 800 delegates representing branches of the association throughout the state.

Several thousand visitors have taken up quarters at the different hotels, and it is estimated that the contests to be held at the driving park will be witnessed by not less than 15,000 people.

The program covers three days, and includes running, ladder climbing, hose coupling and drills in every branch of a fireman's work. Three thousand dollars will be awarded in prizes to the most efficient companies and individuals. The citizens of Ottawa and the Driving Park association have raised over $5,000 for the entertainment of the visitors. A ball will be given this evening and to-morrow there will be a free banquet, for which over 800 covers will be laid.

The Servians have a peculiar custom of giving a parting kiss to their deceased friends before final burial, and the observance of it has caused a serious epidemic of diphtheria. The custom has now been forbidden.

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea, or in food, without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never Fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Currents for Produce and Other Articles.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 98,856 bu and at five other western points 1,103,185 bu, aggregate 1,201,041 bu. On the corresponding Tuesday in 1891 the receipts were 1,245,279 bu, but it included 288,333 bu of northwest wheat, leaving as the movement from the five other points 956,946 bu against 1,022,185 bu to-day.

Export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were 257,897 and flour to an aggregate of 460,000 bu.

English markets are firm for wheat and weak for corn.

On Saturday last we gave a summary of receipts of wheat at eight western points for four weeks in August, 1891 and 1892, which showed a movement of 4,260,000 bu in excess of last year for same time and same points, notwithstanding the enormous crop of 1891. And this excess of receipts is by no means wholly chargable to the increased movement of old crop northwest wheat over last year, but it is also a largely increased movement of winter wheat. This fact is the more extraordinary considering that the price of wheat has averaged more than 20c bu below August, 1891.

The receipts of wheat at four Atlantic ports in the same four weeks are 4,619,000 bu less than in 1891. The exports from same four ports were 4,011,000 bu less than in 1891, and the export from both coasts, flour and wheat, were 5,133,000 less than in 1891.

This excess of receipts in 1892 is represented in our visible supply table, which increases weekly by very lively jumps.

Reports of frost in the northwest, with statements of damage to wheat—reports of frost and damage to corn in northern Nebraska—seemed to produce no impression on markets to-day, which opened weak and declined.

About noon the report from the Vienna congress was received and considered quite bearish in its aggregate details concerning European crops, and prices declined still further and one more agany is overpast. The trade has been anticipating the Vienna congress for a month. The factor of dominating influence against reports of frost and rain is the receipts. Never before have we had such a movement in August, and as we have before said, it is by us means to be credited to the movement of old northyest wheat, but deducting that, this year and last, it leaves the movement from the other points this year much in excess of 1891 on the tremendous crop of that year. The markets close weak.

The bulls in corn make daily frantic efforts to advance the price, but it don't pay, and the price is lower again. Foreign markets are quoted as closing lower, but we do not give much heed to them. The statement of 408,000 bus. of flour and wheat increased on passage had no strength, considering that the imports into the United Kingdom were more than twice that in excess of requirements.

In New York September wheat closed at 80 1-4c, a loss of 5-8c; October at 81 5-8c, a loss of 3-4c. September and October corn at 57 1-2c, a loss of 3-4c. September oats at 38 1-4c, a loss of 3-8c.

In Chicago, September wheat closed at 75 1-4c, and October at 76 1-4c, a loss of 3-4c. September corn at 50 5-8c, a loss of 5-8c. October at 51 1-8c, a loss of 3-8c. September oats steady.

In Toledo the business in wheat futures has been only moderately active, and the market has been a weak and declining one. The eventualities of the day of any note are to be found above. Prices closed at the lowest point of the day. The decline at the close on cash and August was 3-4c; September 5-8c; October 3-8c, and December 3-4c. On the call September sold at 78 1-2@78 1-4c; October and December at 81 1-4c. On the regular board August sold at 78 1-4c, and closed at 77 1-2c bid. September at 78 1-4c, and closed at 77 1-2c bid; October at 79c, and closed at 78 1-4c bid; December at 81 1-8c and closed at 80 1-4c; May at 87 3-4@86c.

Cash wheat was in the usual good demand; No. 2 soft sold at 78c to 77 3-4c, and at close 77 1-2c was bid; No. 3 soft at 70c in D. & M. and 69c to 69 1-4c elsewhere; at close, sales D. & M. at 69 3-4c; September sold at 69 1-2c and at close at 69c, and October at 71c; No. 2 soft at 63; rejected No. 1 at 66 1-2c; No. 2 at 50c 1-2c; smutty at 60c to 65c.

Corn—No. 2 at 51c; No. 3 at 50 1-2c; No. 4 at 46c.

Rye—No. 2 at 63c; No. 3 at 52c.

Clover seel was weaker and the price declined. On the call November sold at $5.80 and after the call at the same; October sold at $5.77 1-2 to $5.75, a loss of 10c.

Mark Lane Express.

London, Aug. 30.—The Mark Lane Express says that the harvest is clearing with remarkable rapidity. Wheat is estimated to average 29 bushels to the acre, the total being 8,000,000 quarters. Barley ought to average 34 bushels, and oats barely 37 bushels, being a decrease since 1891 of nearly 8,000,000 bushels of wheat, nearly 3,000,000 bushels of barley and nearly 3,000,000 bushels of oats.

ENGLISH LITERATURE

The Subject of an Interesting Paper.

Proceedings of the Teachers' Institute Now in Session in This City.

A large attendance of teachers gave the grammar school room a crowded appearance this morning at the Teachers' institute, and much interest was shown. Prof. Brumbaugh conducted the opening exercises.

From 9:55 to 10:10 o'clock Prof. Coler continued his talk on arithmetic and advised the teachers to use practical methods of percentage in their school.

Prof. Brumbaugh talked on "Language" this morning. He stated that he would like to have a specific method of studying English literature, so that the greatest possible amount of good could be realized from it. He said a great amount of our reading is thoughtless and aimless; that we did not understand the purpose of the author. English literature was the crowning element of the power in language. He would begin and read back—from the present writers back to Chaucer. If we begin with Chaucer, we mind it hard; we become disgusted and say "we don't like Chaucer, because we don't know how to read him."

He thought Chaucer was born 150 years too soon, and what he wrote is an idea of what literature is to be.

For 150 years after Chancer's time not one thing was done to show any progress in literature. Then came the drama in English; people began to write dialogues and play them upon the stage; "they came to trace the passions to their living source."

Shakespeare dealt with subjects that we could understand, that appeal to our experiences and may be considered the head of all literature.

The personification of passion and not the conceits of the mind played an important part in the school of Elizabethian writers. The various authors must be read differently—Longfellow has different purposes than Shakespeare.

The metaphysical writers bring forth the conceits of mind and not the passions of the soul; their poetry abounds in conceit of the bodily beauty of women. Walter brought forth a reform in literature, which was made more perfect by Dryden, and polished by Pope, Addison, Burler, and others. Sarcasm predominated in these writings and political and religious satire abounded.

Then came natural reform; when it was found that something could be written about beside the loveliness of women. Thomas and Young found the true basis of poetry in nature—the basis of every art is nature—and here, we are refreshed by the beauty of the pictures of mountains, lakes—nature by such men as Sir Walter Scott, Burns, Moore, Goldsmith and others."

A short recess was taken after this talk, after which Prof. Hutchinson continued his talk upon "Primary Reading." At the afternoon session Prof. Coler handled the subject of "Pedagogics" and Profs. Hutchinson and Brumbaugh talked on numbers and geography, respectively.

In addition to the teachers present yesterday are: Mrs. Emma C. Hall, Helen W. Dimick, Agnes Dillon, Sarah H. Hayes, Nettie Vanderhalf, Lizzie Burnes, Emily Boggis, Myrtle B. Demuth, Anna L. Murray, Kate G. Sheahan, Jennie Kaufman, Olive Randall, Lina M. Jones, Emma Richardson, Olga H. Heyn, Helen Bughan, Jessie L. Durfee, Susie Horner, Mamie Huston, Helen Griffin, Anna R. Ratbone, Nellie Connelly, Fanny Chidester, Florence Dawkins, R. C. Van Gorder, Harriet A. Davis, Flora Herskovits, Bridget Cassidy, E. De Haven, Kate Geelan, Ida Zurfluh, Minnie Boulet, Teop Fischer, Lizzie Sheahan, Belle Barlow, Mary Dunlap, Birdie Jones, Anna Buck, Irena Schultze, Blanche Warner, Bessie Brownsberger, Lura Quinn, Lulu Southard, Rose Kelly, Annie Pickett, Wayne Howell, Jessie Mansfield, Mamie Farst, F. L. Conklin, Jessie M. Consul, Mamie Kline, W. A. Ogden, Ella Frey, Florence Johnson, Bertha Sugarman, Stella Alexander, Nellie Bowen, Martha Lillilund, Luella Martin, Effie M. Sterling, H. T. Hutchins, Anna Sargent, May Gillette, Emily Hughes; Grace Cary, of Lima; Kate Wetzel, Perrysburg; Hessie Leybourne, West Toledo.

The program for to-morrow is as follows:

9 to 9:15—Opening exercises.
9:15 to 9:55—Language—Prof. Brumbaugh.
9:55 to 10:50—Recess and discussion.
10:50 to 11—Discussion.
11 to 11:40—Pedagogics—Prof. Coler.

Afternoon.

2 to 2:40—Primary geography—Prof Hutchinson.
2:40 to 2:45—Recess.
2:45 to 3 :25—History—Prof Coler.
3:25 to 3:30—Recess.
3:30 to 4:10—Organization of country schools.

The afternoon session of the institute was opened Monday at 2 o'clock. Prof. Hutchinson talked on "Number Work," the first hour, followed by Prof. Brumbaugh, whose subject was "Geography."

He stated that the present mode of teaching geography from the text books now in use, was not the most satisfactory. He gave what he considered the best method, and one which gave the pupil an understanding of what he was really studying.

This was followed by a scientific talk on percentage by Prof. Coler. The meeting was then adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

FROM THE SALT SEA.

The barge Castor, of Brooklyn, arrived in this port last night and now lies at the foot of Adams street. On board is a monster whale 65 feet long, 35 feet in circumference, and weighing 75 tons. It is on its way to Chicago for the world's fair. The captain will remain in this city for a few days and exhibit this monster of the deep, thus giving our citizens a chance to see a real whale. It will no doubt be visited by many, as it is well worth seeing.

AN ISLAND HOME.

A change of air, a change of scene, is the best sort of prescription to indulge in during the summer months. It beats medicine and drugs. An island equipped with all the heart can wish for comfort and pleasure, is located in Michigan, and known far and wide as Mackinac. It is a favorite resort. Reached by the Michigan Central railroad, and fully described in its Summer Tourist folder, sent to your address by dropping a line, with stamp, to Wm. J. Seinwerth, S. P. Agent, Cincinnati, Ohio.

GEN. CRESPO.

He Picks Up a Town Every Few Days.

New York, Aug. 30.—A cable to the Herald from Curacoa says that Maracaibo, on the northwest, like Puerto Cabello, on the north, and Cuidad Bolivar, on the Orinoco river, has fallen into the hands of the Venezuelan rebels, who follow the leadership of Gen. Crespo.

With this news came the still more sensational announcement that Luciano Mendosa has declared himself dictator of Venezuela, thus seeking to oust Gen. Urdaneta.

OCEAN MARINE.

News of the Craft on the Deep Seas.

New York, Aug. 30.—The steamer Antonio Zambrana from Gibraltar, which arrived this morning, reports that on August 25, the steamer Alfred Dumers broke her shaft outside the harbor of Banes and was towed into port by a small harbor steam vessel.

The steamer Muriet which arrived this morning from Barbadoes reports that the American brigantine, Brittania from Barbadoes for New York with a cargo of sugar, sprang a leak August 14, northeast of St. Lucia, and put into St. Martin August 17. During a heavy gale of wind the vessel drove ashore and became a total loss. The cook and one seaman were drowned. The remainder of the crew, eight in number, arrived here to-day on the Muriet.

Arrived—Steamer Veendam, from Rotterdam.

MALCOLM RUSSELL

Passes Through Toledo With Lillian Russell.

At the Local Theaters—The Pulse of New York Pleases the People—Cupid's Chariot.

Malcolm Russell passed through Toledo yesterday, en route for San Francisco with the Lillian Russell company. There were on the train 83 artists and a donkey. The train was made up of three baggage cars and three Niagara palace cars—"La Cigale," "The Mountebanks," named after Miss Russell's pieces, and the third one named after herself, "Lillian Russell."

Mac Russell signed to sing in the chorus and play small parts, but one of the principals was taken sick in New York and was left behind, and his understudy takes his part. Mac was given the understudy's part and will be one of the principals in the cast.

At San Francisco Mountebanks will be played. It will be its first production in this country. When the curtain rolls up for the first time it will show the results of months of labor and an outlay of $30,000. The cast is made up of the best talent in England and America.

Pulse of New York.

The Pulse of New York opened a weeks' engagement at the People's last evening. The piece is a stirring one and is interpreted by a strong company. The scenic effects are elaborate. The cast contains some well known people, such as Walter Jones, Eloise Willard, Carrie Sweeney, Frederick Roberts and Georgie Elliott. The performance is well worth seeing.

Cupid's Chariot.

Cupid's Chariot pleased a large audience at Wheeler's last evening. The piece is utterly devoid of plot, but that doesn't matter, it's full of fun instead. Everything was bright and went with a snap. Miss Evans, who sang Mary and John here last season with Ole Olson, sang Kiss and Make Up Again last evening in a very effective manner. The singing and the specialties throughout the performance were good. Barber, the wonderful bicyclist, and the three Powers brothers did some clever work on the wheel in the second act. They play centers on the bicycle race in the second act in which four racers are seen going it at full speed.

Week of Opera.

Next week the new comic opera, Ship Ahoy, will hold forth at Wheeler's every evening. Ship Ahoy is said to be equal to the once popular Pinafore. The libretto is from the pen of H. Grattan Donnelly, the author of Natural Gas, and the music is by Fred Miller, jr.

WESTERN SWITCHMEN.

They Are Growing Uneasy in East St. Louis.

St. Louis, Aug. 30.—The strike fever has reached East St. Louis. Last night the switchmen of the Air Line road quit work because their demand for another man to be added to each crew was not granted. The switchmen gave Superintendent Crouch until last night to grant their request. The strikers' places were filled with non-union men and trains were made up with but little delay. It was stated last night that unless the road yields all the switchmen will strike in sympathy.

LINCOLN, OF WOOD,

The Administration's Candidate for Congress.

Inside Facts in the Federal Clique's Primary Plan.

Griffin's Aspirations Must be Nipped in the Bud—Hamilton a Doubtful Quantity and Must be Headed Off—Fun Ahead.

The postoffice politicians are working one of the slickest political skin-games ever undertaken in this congressional district.

The primary plan, over which there was such a row in the republican county committee meeting, was, as the Bee has heretofore stated, conceived in the federal building, but its end and object was not known until within the last 24 hours.

The primary object of the postoffice people is to elect a clean-cut and thorough supporter of the administration.

To do this it was necessary to head off Griffin, who is an outspoken anti-Harrison candidate.

To kill off Griffin it was absolutely necessary for the Harrison crowd to get control of the primaries.

Ashley is not in the race and has not been, though the postoffice clique will use him for a blind.

With Hamilton and Griffin neck and neck at the primaries, neither can win, and the administration will have friends enough on the Lucas county delegation to give the outside favorite the full vote of this county.

The proposed plan of primaries was prepared in the federal building, and Messrs. Waldorf, Bonner, Brown, Austin, Southard, Rike and Flickinger were present.

The first part of the program satisfactorily arranged, the question was, who shall we select from among the candidates from the outside counties?

After a long and earnest discussion of the situation it was decided to groom and trot out Lincoln, of Wood.

He will be as susceptible as mush in the hands of the postoffice people and will be just their man.

It may be asked why should the local federal office-holders resort to such desperate means to secure the election of a congressman.

Well, in the first place, after the disgraceful fiasco on the part of the Ohio delegation at Minneapolis the Ohio representatives of the administration must give an excuse for existing.

The next and equally as important is the fact that there is a possibility of the presidential election being thrown into the house, in which case every vote will be precious.

The postoffice people are playing a remarkable game just now and it remains to be seen if the rank and file of the party will submit to the dictates of a few bosses.

To Secure An Idea for Their Proposed New Building at the Corner of Madison and Huron Streets.

Messrs. A. L. and C. M. Spitzer are in Chicago looking over some of the sky-scraping edifices of that city with the view of erecting a counterpart in Toledo.

Before leaving yesterday for Chicago the deal whereby they will become possessors of the Toledo Transfer company's building and location was consumated and the transfer will be made on their return.

The purchasers have not yet decided and will not until their return just how high the proposed building will be. This much, however, is certain, it will be much higher, larger and handsomer than the Produce Exchange.

HEAVY MORTGAGES.

Port Huron, Mich., Aug. 30.—Anderson & Co., of this city, manufacturers and dealers in carriage and agricultural implements, today filed chattel mortgages aggregating $230,000 to secure creditors. The liabilities and assests are unknown at present, but it is said the latter will far exceed the former, and if the firm is given time will pay every one in full.

THE FORCE BILL.

How it Would Work an Expensive Curse.

What would be the direct and immediate effects of a force bill carried into execution in the southern states? Mr. Hoke Smith, president of the board of education of Atlanta, answers this question in a brief and sharp article in the August number of The Forum. After showing that, in his opinion at least, the law would be unconstitutional, and after showing that its expense would be not less than $10,000,000 for every election and would bring into existence at least 350,000 new office-holders, he proceeds to show that no greater calamity would befall the negro, for whose benefit it is argued such a bill is needed. The development of the negro depends absolutely upon the kind feeling which exists between the two races in the south. The enactment of a force bill would at once inspire the negroes with an undue attention to politics, and this, in turn, would inspire the more emotional of the white population with less kindly feelings toward the blacks, and with these results there would be in the south a re-enactment of all the occurrences of the reconstruction period.

This Mr. Smith regards as a sufficient argument in itself against even agitation for another force bill, but he goes much further. He maintains that the industrial condition of the negro would be made materially worse, that he would become a less industrious laborer in the cotton fields, because he then was much less industrious than he has been since; and that in this way the agriculture of the south would be seriously impaired, and that the whole country would feel the commercial depression in consequence of the social, political, and industrial confusion that a force bill would work in the southern states. The facts and figures given by Mr. Smith are a full presentation of the whole southern argument along every line of thought against even the agitation of such a measure.

Mrs. Chas. Smith, of Jimes, Ohio, writes: I have used every remedy for sick headache I could hear of for the past fifteen years, but Carter's Little Liver Pills did me more good than all the rest.

Dr. J. N. Mowry will be at the Burnett house on Wednesday morning, Aug. 31.

PREACHERS & LABOR LEADERS

One Reason Why Workingmen Do Not Profess Religion.

The divergence between the churches, even of the most liberal class, and the workingmen was never more clearly or more painfully shown than by a recent investigation made by the Massachusetts Congregational association. The Rev. John P. Coyle sent inquiries to preachers and church officers and to the officers of the labor organizations to ascertain whether in their opinion industrial discontent had anything to do with the falling off of church attendance. The replies do not indicate directly to what extent industrial discontent has had effect, but indirectly they brought much more significant information than could have been anticipated. The results of this interesting inquiry are set forth in an article on "Preachers and Labor Leaders" in the August number of The Forum, being one of The Forum's "Studies in Practical Religion." The preachers admit that 38 per cent. of the workingmen are alienated from the church, but they think that industrial discontent has had little to do with it. On the other hand, the labor leaders declare that 48 per cent. of the workingmen are alienated from the church and that the reason is to be found in the alliance of the church with the industrial interests that are hostile to labor.

"Church members are accused of being first and most merciless in cutting down the wages of helpless girls while maintaining their own salaries and dividends. A report is made of one employer who gave largely and with much applause to the building of a church, and then deducted the cost of it from the wages of his help. And such men as these are the pillars of the churches, occupy the chief seats, fill the highest offices, impart to them their tone, and welcome the workingman if he comes as a beneficiary, which his self-respect resents. When lockouts and strikes occur, the churches and preachers side with the employer, deride labor organizations, sneer at their leaders, and throw the weight of their influence against them. Seldom is the church just enough to be neutral. It is a 'mammonized' institution; it belongs to the plutocrats, and gives disgusting exhibition of its servility when it grovels at the feet of a public robber until he throws it in contempt a few thousands out of his ill-gotten millions."

The value of this inquiry is that whatever the facts may be about non-attendance on church or about the causes of it, the alienation of the workingmen and the churches is real; and the preachers and the labor leaders have got so far apart as to misunderstand one another.

THE HEAT OF THE SUN.

It is Much Warmer Underneath Than at the Visible Surface.

How hot is the sun? That is a question astronomers and physicists have been trying for years to solve, and they are not yet satisfied that they know the true answer. In fact, it may be said, they are certain they do not know it, although they are able to report progress, from time to time, in the direction of the truth.

The most recent trustworthy investigation is that of M. De Chatelier, who fixes the effective temperature of the sun at 12,500 degrees Fahrenheit. It may be, he thinks, either hotter or colder than that figure indicates, to the extent of 1,800 degress either way.

It will be noticed that the later estimate takes off several thousand degrees, but this is a trifle compared with the falling off from the estimates of the temperature of the sun made by some of the earlier investigators. The celebrated Secchi at one time maintained that the solar temperature was not less than 18,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit, but he himself afterward found reasons for dropping down to 250,000 degrees.

If M. De Chatelier's result is approximately correct, then we can perhaps begin to get something like a comprehension of the heat of the solar furnace, since it approaches comparison with temperature that we can produce artificially. The highest artificial temperature has been estimated by Prof. Young at about 4,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

But it must be remembered that there are certain arbitrary assumptions, which may or may not be correct, involved even in the most careful investigations of this subject, and that, at any rate, the sun is undoubtedly much hotter underneath than it is at its glowing and visible surface.—Youth's Companion.

It is asserted that a silk manufacturer in business near New York sank $60,000 in trying to produce a silk fit for hat making. He even went so far as to import not only skilled workmen, but even water from France, because he came to believe that the quality of water with which the material was treated had something to do with the success of the French manufacturers.
